Depew, Wise Man.
Another Special Baby.
Dangerous Arbitrators.
One Big Payroll.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

(Copyright, 1928.)

CHAUNCEY M. DEPEW, dead in his 94th year, older than the Republican party, which he served long and faithfully, said: "I have lived long because I could laugh at anything."

Of Napoleon, it was said that in his youth "no one ever saw him laugh." He didn't live 93 years, but he did live more in one day than amiable Mr. Depew in all his 94 years.

CHAUNCEY DEPEW attended 8,000 banquets and never let boredom drive him into eating too much. That's wisdom.

He campaigned for Lincoln, got $1.75 for his first legal services, lived under 24 Presidents, from Andrew Jackson to Calvin Coolidge, and knew 13 of them personally. How many can name the 24 from Jackson on?

MILTON wrote, "Hail, Wedded Love, Mysterious Law, True Source of Human Offspring." Miss Sylvia Pankhurst doesn't agree with that.

A photograph shows her holding a child, called by reporters "A Love Baby," as though that were a special breed.

MISS PANKHURST, who is unmarried and declines to name the child's father, is mistaken in the idea that her demonstration of a strong mind "will contribute to woman's freedom."

If the idea spread too far it would contribute to woman's misery.

It has taken men one million years to climb up from a "pithecanthropoid state to semi-decency in married life, and it ought not to go back.

UNCLE SAM and Holland claimed a little island called Las Palmas, between the Dutch East Indies and the Philippines. Max Huber, Swiss statesman, named arbitrator, gives Holland the island.

Holland would also have got Pike's Peak had that mountain been included in the arbitration.

We're not complaining, of course, but let's hope nothing really important will ever be submitted by this nation to a foreign world court.

GOOD news for Detroit and prosperity generally is the employing of more men by the Ford Motor Company. Ford's working total is now 97,563 men, only 12,435 below the peak figures of 1926. A pay roll of more than $400,000 a day, about $180,000,000 a year is not so bad.

THE stock market quit yesterday for a three days' rest. For the first time on record the brokers stop work on Saturday following Good Friday. Nothing to do now until Monday.

Anything can happen between Friday and Monday and fear of the unknown usually sends stocks down. Yesterday confidence in the unknown sent stocks up.

NEW YORK merchants report business excellent, in women's apparel. They buy more of it and less of it, more garments, less material in them. Paper underwear for ladies makes its appearance in several stores.

Silk of wood, underwear of paper—not pleasant news for cotton growers.

GOOD from evil. Senator Borah wanted $160,000 to pay back monies given by Mr. Sinclair to the Republican party. The idea was to make the old Republican lady an honest girl. Enthusiasm died out after $17,000 had been contributed and that money will go to striking miners with hungry children. That's 17,000 times better than giving it to Mr. Sinclair.

AT Cannes, on the blue Mediterranean, where no prohibition weighs you down, a Chicago gentleman, aged 52, and feeling generous, threw 40,000 francs from a hotel balcony to enjoy the sight of screaming men and women scrambling for the money.

That sort of thing explains certain European ideas about Americans.

ON April 17, friends of Gov. Smith will formally announce his candidacy for the Democratic presidential nomination. They might quite safely announce, simultaneously, that he will get the nomination.

London Typist Swims Gibraltar Strait

FIRST RECORDED

Mercedes Gleitz, London typist, who claims to have conquered the English Channel on her eighth attempt only to have amateur swimming officials refuse to recognize the feat because there were no officials with her at the time, is reported to have made the first recorded swim of the Strait of Gibraltar. She started from Palomas Island, near Tarifa, Spain, and swam to Punta Leona, near Cueta, Morocco. It was her fourth attempt to swim the strait.

Why Kiki Cuyler Was Traded Is Bared to World at Last

Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 6.

JOE McCARTHY

MRS. JOE McCARTHY can just about tell what the Cubs are going to do in baseball by the way her husband, who manages them, knocks on the door.

When Joe is discouraged over pennant prospects of the Cubs, she said, he gives two timid raps that spell to her trained ear discouragement and ebbing hope. When the prospects are bright, he gives a series of resounding knocks that shiver the timbers—peremptory knocks like an emperor might give.

And Joe is knocking hard these days, Mrs. McCarthy said.

By the knocks only does she know, for the Cubs' manager never talks baseball with his wife.

"Only once did I question him about baseball," said Mrs. McCarthy. That was last winter. I was curious to know why Pittsburgh was willing to let Kiki Cuyler go if he was as good as he was cracked up to be. So I asked Joe.

"'Babe,' he said, 'let's go skating.' And we did."

KILLING OF SPEHAR CLEARED

Police will ask the grand jury to ignore the charge of murder against Mrs. Mary Spehar, released on $10,000 bail, March 23, in connection with the killing of her husband, John Spehar, saloonkeeper, March 4.

Mrs. Mary Spehar.

The action follows alleged confessions of three men arrested by members of the homicide squad. Their stories of the murder clear Mrs. Spehar.

The men accused of killing the saloonkeeper are Frank Skalski, of

Thief Runs, Shot

Believed to be one of three men who early today held up the Hoffman Park barbecue, Babcock road, Joseph Koleck, 18, of 147 Fortieth street, is being held under police guard in the Allegheny General Hospital, where he applied for admittance, suffering bullet wounds in the back and arm, R. H. Hoffman, proprietor, told county detectives he shot one of the bandits during the holdup.

Koleck told detectives that he had been shot by two holdup men who tried to rob him, although detectives say that Koleck was implicated in the barbeque robbery in which $155 was stolen. A man answering Koleck's description had earlier applied for aid at the office of a Butler street physician, but left when the doctor called police.

Hoffman said that he and his wife were alone in the barbeque when the three holdup men entered, all armed with revolvers. Money was taken from the cash register, from Hoffman and from Mrs. Hoffman. The robbers went outside and two climbed into a machine. When Hoffman, revolver

OTHER BOY IN MURDER FREED

A jury's Good Friday verdict today blotted out the murder charge against Robert Stevens, 14, of West Homestead.

As the foreman arose and pronounced the words "not guilty," the youngest person to be tried for his life in this county, gazed stolidly at the jury for an instant and then slumped in his chair.

Robert Stevens.

The boy apparently did not understand, at first, that he had been cleared of aiding Alvin Hess, 16, in slaying an unidentified wayfarer in West Homestead, last September for $3.75. Stevens got 75 cents.

By his side, the lad's mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Stevens, gasped "Oh!" then wept. His father, Joseph, was overjoyed, but silent.

STILL IN CUSTODY

Seven men and five women retired to deliberate at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. They are said to have reached a verdict at 9 o'clock last night. They were ready when

ROB BEERY AS HE ACTS

LOS ANGELES, April 6.—(AP.)—Theft of between $95,000 and $100,000 in negotiable checks and securities from his dressing room at the film studio where he was working was reported to the police last night by Wallace Beery, motion picture comedian.

Wallace Beery.

Beery said he had gone to his bank early today and withdrew 223 shares of stock and certified checks and dividend checks. Returning to the studio, he left the fortune in his coat pocket when he changed clothes in a portable dressing room.

Returning later, the actor found the side window of the dressing room broken and the valuables missing.

KILLS HIS PARTNER, THEN HIMSELF

WHEELING, W. Va., April 6.—A business partnership as contracting plasterers, which had endured 20 years, ended today when Fred Voltz, 55, shot and killed William Pratt, 45, then ended his own life.

The shooting occurred in their shop in the rear of the Voltz home on Wheeling Island.

Voltz had been nervous over business worries for several days. An argument in the shop was heard by Mrs. Voltz in her home and then two shots were fired. After shooting Pratt, Voltz stepped into the yard and shot himself. He died in Wheeling Hospital. Pratt resided at Warwood, a suburb. Both men were married.

FRENCHMAN TUNES UP FOR FLIGHT TO U. S.

DIJON, France, April 6.—(AP.)—Lieut. De Troyat, French flier, who took off from Le Bourget at 4:30 o'clock this morning and failed to return many hours later leading to conjectures that he might have started a projected East to West trans-Atlantic flight, landed at Dijon at 1:40 p. m.

The lieutenant, in the nine hours that he was in the air, made a swing to the south which carried him first to Marseilles on the Mediterranean and then northward over the Rhone to Lyons and finally Dijon, which is about 170 miles southeast of Paris.

He said that he was satisfied with the performance of his machine, an exact copy of Col. Lindbergh's famous "Spirit of St. Louis" which he is grooming in the hope of being the first Frenchman to try a Paris-to-New York flight this year.

Today circuit of approximately 700 miles, was in the nature of a test flight and was made with a full load of gasoline.

The sparkling eyes and cheerful smile of Elizabeth Calhoun have won for her the title of "cutest girl" at the Women's College of Alabama. She is a freshman.

REVENGE ON TRUSTY SEEN AS MOTIVE

LOS ANGELES, April 6.—(AP.)—A man hunt was on today in California with a two-fold object—the finding of 9-year-old Walter Collins and the whereabouts of a gang of ex-convicts from Folsom Penitentiary.

Police here yesterday started the search for the eight one-time inmates of Folsom on the theory that a possible feud engendered within prison walls may have resulted in the abduction of young Collins, with revenge upon the father of the boy as a motive. Walter J. S. Collins, the father, has been a trusty at Folsom and officers believe that his duties of reporting infractions of rules by his fellow convicts may have led some of the prisoners to have staged a reprisal when they were released, by abducting and possibly slaying the lad.

The abduction angle was strengthened by the report of a mysterious "dead boy" seen in the tonneau of an automobile by a filling station employe several days ago.

POLICE TO OVERSEE TUESDAY VOTING

CHICAGO, April 6.—Five thousand police, five-sixths of the city's entire force, will guard Chicago's polls in the Illinois primary election next Tuesday, Commissioner of Police Michael Hughes, announced today.

Police details assigned to the city's 2,755 precincts from opening of the polls until closing, will be augmented by several thousand representatives of County Judge Edmund Jarecki.

Commissioner Hughes said the normal detail of 35 detective squads would be reinforced by 65 special squads under Deputy Commissioner William E. O'Conner.

Several hundred special police also will be assigned to the election commissioners' office in charge of Judge Jarecki.

The announcement, outlining the most extensive primary poll guard in the history of Chicago, was accompanied by no comment from Commissioner Hughes.

His only statement was that "if there is to be any trouble, it probably will be in the battle over ward committeemen elections."

There was no mention of an extra guard in the Twenty-fifth Ward, the old "Bloody Nineteenth," where "Diamond Joe" Esposito, powerful Italian leader and Republican candidate for ward committeeman, was slain.

Esposito's death, while also attributed to the "alky" war, generally was believed to have resulted from his political activity.

'Waiting,' Pole Flier Flashes

SEWARD, Alaska, April 6. — (AP.) — Cloudy weather over the Arctic kept Captain George H. Wilkins, Australian explorer, from starting his contemplated 2,100-mile flight over the top of the world yesterday.

This was the substance of a message received here late last night from Point Barrow, the most northerly tip of Alaska, from which Wilkins expects to make his flight to Spitsbergen in the eastern hemisphere.

Wilkins' radio call came through very faintly, and much of his message was lost. He said something about "tomorrow" which was interpreted to mean that he would again try to get away this morning, probably between 8 and 9 o'clock, Pacific time.

The United States signal service here announced it would work a continuous shift, listening for KDZ, Wilkins' call, on 33.1 meters, so that any word he sends out will not be lost. The explorer, with his pilot, Lieut. Carl Ben Eielson, plans to keep in touch with the outside by frequent messages while in the air.

An automobile believed used by the holdup men was found early this morning in Diamond street, North Side. Two bullet holes were found in the rear of the machine, according to Capt. Anthony Block. The car is owned by H. Rosenberg, of 5498 Hays street, and it was stolen last night.

NEBRASKA SNOW

Station WOW, Woodmen of the World, at Omaha.

Burlington and Missouri Pacific Railroad offices here, both of which have lines to Lincoln and Omaha, report their wires have gone down north of the Kansas-Nebraska state line and have received reports that cyclonic winds and unusually heavy lightning storms have followed a sleet and snow which last night hurled telephone and telegraph poles to the ground.

J. A. Jacobs, general superintendent of the Missouri Pacific Railroad here, reported seven inches of snow near Lincoln. So far as Jacobs could learn, however, the high winds of last night had done little damage other than destroy telegraph and telephone communication.

TRAINS DELAYED

CHICAGO, April 6.—(AP.)—A heavy wet blanket of snow covered Nebraska today, putting telegraph and telephone wires out of commission, delaying railroad and interurban trains and blocking the highways.

The fall of snow was five inches deep, according to the weather bureau here, with moderate to fresh winds and temperature 30 to 40 degrees.

The storm hit the central west last night after moving northeast from the Texas Panhandle accompanied by thunderstorms and, in some places, snow. Parts of Iowa and Northern Missouri were expected to get some snow today, the weather bureau said. Points farther east will receive only rain.

$6,524,000 FOR POSTOFFICE

$66,000,000, about one-half of which would be appropriated at this session.

The recommendations were made in compliance with the two public buildings acts authorizing the expenditure of $20,000,000 annually outside of the District of Columbia until $200,000,000 is consumed.

The recommendations include:

Pittsburgh, postoffice and courthouse, $6,425,000 limit, $200,000 available this year.

Clarksburg, W. Va., postoffice-courthouse, $475,000 limit, $175,000 this year.

Cumberland, Md., courthouse, postoffice, $265,000 limit, $75,000 this year.

Morgantown, W. Va., postoffice, $125,000 limit, $50,000 this year.

Tyrone, Pa., postoffice, $125,000 limit, $50,000 this year.

Youngstown, O., postoffice-courthouse, $210,000 limit, $100,000 this year.

New Philadelphia, O., postoffice, $100,000 limit, $50,000 this year.

Canton, O., postoffice, $510,000 limit, $200,000 this year.

MAY BE READY BY 1930.

Postmaster George W. Gosser, informed today by The Sun-Telegraph of the budget bureau recommendation, said that the $200,000 will be sufficient to start the work on the foundation of the structure to be built at Grant street and Seventh avenue.

This building will house all of the various government departments of the district, including 41 divisions now housed outside of the present Federal building in Smithfield street. Its completion by 1929 is expected.

Local postal authorities want a 12-story structure, but the plans are entirely in the hands of the postal and treasury departments at Washington. The new building also will house the United States District Court. It will be built on ground having a frontage of 502 feet in Grant street, a depth of 146 feet in Seventh avenue and 26½ feet on the Pennsylvania Station side of the property, which is triangular in shape.

It required 10 years to build the Federal Building in Smithfield street, but Mr. Gosser feels certain that if the work is started this year the job will be completed either by 1930, or during that year. He cited the speed at which the Chicago postoffice was recently built, that structure being erected in a little more than a year's time. The Pittsburgh structure will be built on ground having 80,200 square feet.

There are 1,729 employes under the direct service of Postmaster Gosser in this district, including the main and sub-station offices. Most of them would report to the new building.

The present Federal Building was erected in 1892 and it is stated is entirely inadequate.

Tests for making drillings to ascertain the status of the ground were advertised for recently, but contracts for this work will be let in Washington.

2nd Good Friday Jury Acquits in Murder

The verdict clearing Robert Stevens of murder today marked the second successive Good Friday on which an Allegheny county court has convened to perform this service. Last year on Good Friday criminal court was convened to receive a verdict in the murder trial of Mrs. Clara Lutz, North Side woman, who was accused of shooting to death her husband, George Lutz, a North Side dairyman, in their Emlin street home. After a trial lasting almost a week the woman was found not guilty by a jury which presented its verdict on Good Friday.

BOY FOUND NOT GUILTY

court opened at 9:30 o'clock this morning and were summoned by Judge Joseph M. Swearingen, who took the finding.

Robert was not granted his freedom, despite the verdict. Because of the defense plea of feeble-mindedness, Assistant District Attorney F. P. Langfitt, the prosecutor, asked that Stevens be remanded to Juvenile Court until final disposition of his case, and the court so ruled.

Stevens' pal, the Hess youth, was convicted of first degree murder and faces life imprisonment. Hess' plea of insanity was unavailing. The commonwealth contended that both boys were normal mentally.

The two boys were charged with beating to death and robbing a middle-aged man, never identified, along the Monongahela River near Brown's Bridge.

WARD HOLD-UP CAR FOUND -:- ARE BANDITS NEXT? -:- MONEY BAG RECOVERED

DEVELOPMENTS

Rapid developments in the Ward Baking Company hold-up in which $16,500 was taken from messengers have led to police hope that the bandits will soon be captured. The hold-up occurred here, Thirty-first street and Spring way, at the pole shown in the photo.

BAG FOUND

Ray P. Madigan, assistant sales manager, Ward Baking Company, identifies the bag in which the money was carried by messengers. He was an eye-witness to the robbery. The bag was found in woods, near Kennywood Park.

AUTOMOBILE RECOVERED

This car is the one in which the thugs made their getaway after the hold-up. It was stolen from the Hillman Coal Company and recovered by Constable Al Batchen, Mifflin township, in the vicinity of Kennywood Park, but not near the money bag. Above are George Siple (left), 511 McNair street, of the National Valve and Manufacturing Company, Liberty avenue, another eye-witness, who identified the car, and County Detective Michael McDermott, holding the money bag.

ARE BANDITS FINIS?

Are the bandits "Finis" in this little tale of developments since the hold-up? That question is rife now that the bag and car have been recovered at about the same time, indicative that the men are still in this vicinity.

'PADDLING MY DUTY,' SAYS SCHOOL MARM

In the parlor of her mother's home at 7612 Frankstown avenue, Mrs. Marian B. Schoemaker looked up from her spring cleaning to tell her version of the whipping of Forrest Showalter.

Mrs. Schoemaker is principal of Hannastown public school. Forrest is the 130-pound 10-year-old who took a mirror and reflected sun rays into Mrs. Schoemaker's classroom one week ago today. Then he ran home. The whipping followed as soon as the janitor could fetch him.

After the whipping Mrs. Katherine Showalter, Forrest's mother, called up and had some words with Mrs. Schoemaker. She demanded an apology. When she didn't get it, she went to Squire George C. Blair in Wilkinsburg and swore out a warrant charging Mrs. Schoemaker with assault and battery. Squire Blair asked Mrs. Schoemaker to apologize. When she didn't he held her for court.

"I paddled him because he was disobedient," Mrs. Schoemaker said, leaning on her broom-handle. When she has a holiday from school she loves to do the things to make her home attractive for her husband, Peter, who works in an office. They've been married only a year. She's been teaching in Hannastown school for eight years. Six of them she's been principal.

"There were seven teachers in the room when I paddled Forrest and the two other boys with him," Mrs. Schoemaker said. "They had been told at lunch to stop using the mirror. When they started to leave school, at about five minutes of 4, they stopped out in front and started playing with it.

"The musical instructor was teaching my class, the eighth grade, the graduation songs. The rays from the mirror distracted their attention. I called all three of the boys. Forrest ran home, but the other two boys came in. I sent the janitor for him."

It's the first time she can remember, Mrs. Schoemaker said, that she's ever whipped Forrest, though his mother told her that four years ago, when he was in the second grade, she paddled him.

"If I had apologized for doing my duty," Mrs. Schoemaker said, "Forrest would have become incorrigible. And a lot of other boys would have followed in his steps. And while I have planned to retire at the end of the session I want to leave to my successor a well-behaved school of 40 pupils."

The city tax rate, which he unnecessarily high was attacked last night by George P. Koontz, president of the Allied Boards of Trade, in an address before the North Side Chamber of Commerce in North Side City Hall. Mr. Koontz charged the present city administration with waste and misuse of city funds.

He also declared this year's appropriation of $2,100,000 for garbage collection was excessive.

The chamber passed a resolution to assist Mr. Koontz in his efforts to bring about a reduction in the appropriation. The body also endorsed the people's bond issue.

GERMAN FLIERS STILL BALKED BY WEATHER

HENDAYE, Franco-Spanish Frontier, April 6.—(AP.)—Advices from Seville today said Captains Jimenez and Iglesias, Spanish aces in the Moroccan campaign, had decided to try a non-stop flight from Spain to New York.

They recently broke the Spanish record for duration when they remained aloft 28 hours and have been preparing to set a new world's distance record with a flight to British India. They were scheduled to start yesterday, but the hop was postponed for the announced reason that they need a new motor.

The advices say, however that they have become impatient at the delay in obtaining permission to fly over several foreign countries to India and have set their faces westward instead.

DUBLIN, April 6.—(AP.)—Snow, sleet and fog over the Atlantic today kept the German plane Bremen in its hangar and Baldonnel airdrome and the fliers utilized their time in further preparations for the hop-off for New York.

Part of the duralumin was removed from one wing and mechanics tested the wings for any weakness that may have resulted from the heavy landing on a test flight Monday.

"All we can do is to hope from day to day," said Baron von Huenefeld, sponsor of the flight, as he busied himself with plans for taking off from the sodden airfield with his heavily-laden plane.

A paved roadway between the hangars was the latest possibility for a runway, and an approach to it from the hangars was being built with the aid of Free State soldiers. This furnished the Bremen four possible runways, any of which can be used, depending on the wind.

Goff's Hat Tossed In Ring

WASHINGTON, April 6.—(AP.)—The colors of the sixth senatorial candidate for the Republican presidential nomination were flying today with the entry of Guy D. Goff, junior senator from West Virginia, in the primary in that state May 29, when 19 delegates to the Kansas City convention will be selected.

The announcement that Senator Goff had mailed his filing papers to Charleston was made last night by his secretary, Thomas J. Meaney, who said the Senator had been urged to make the race by the entire West Virginia delegation in Congress, and by "other prominent persons."

Thus, the former assistant attorney general places his name alongside Curtis of Kansas, Watson of Indiana, Norris of Nebraska, Reed of Missouri, and Walsh of Montana—the latter two Democrats—in the senatorial lists for the nomination. Had he lived, Willis (R.) of Ohio, would have been the seventh to enter the presidential contest from the Senate.

Time for filing in West Virginia for next month's primary closes April 29. In filing there, delegates must declare if they will or will not be bound by the primary vote in the convention.

CAMBRIA COURT CLEARS WALKER IN EMBEZZLING

EBENSBURG, Pa., April 6.—For the second time, the Cambria County Court held that John D. Walker, former county treasurer and now county commissioner is not liable for $26,000 tax funds, embezzled by Thomas O. Gutelius, former delinquent tax collector.

FREEDOM FOR GIRL -:- "NOT GUILTY," SAYS JURY -:- IN MURDER TRIAL

MRS. ANGELINE BOVE
Mrs. Angeline Bove, 21, was a free woman as she left Criminal Court after the sensational trial for the death of her husband. Here she waited for the jury's verdict.

"YOU MAY GO HOME"!
Great news, that, to the little widow, after her four-day trial. Defense counsel C. B. Prichard congratulates her here, while James A. Geltz looks on. Mrs. Bove's jury was out of the courtroom only 25 minutes before it brought back the verdict that gave her freedom. Judge Harry H. Rowand heard the case and there were four women and eight men on the jury.

"IT'S ALL OVER"
It was hard to realize that she was free, but when she could grasp the significance of the forewoman's terse "Not Guilty!" Mrs. Bove was able to smile after her tears of gladness.

"HELLO, MAMMA!"
All through the trial, Mrs. Bove's two little children were present in the courtroom at various times. They are Alfonso and Jose and above she's shown greeting little Alfonso, named for the dead father, 37, who was shot in his home, 7014 Agnew street, on the night of September 29.

FLIER PLANS NON-STOP SOLO FLIGHT OVER PACIFIC

TESTS SHOW BRITISH HEMP GOOD AS MANILA

Two oak chests that have been fastened to the end of a pier on the English coast for many months were for a scientific experiment that is expected to bring trade worth $10,000,000 a year to the British empire. In the chests, which were perforated to let in the water, were hundreds of yards of British sisal hemp and Manila hemp, and the experiment was to test their relative strength and durability. The results showed that as good rope as that heretofore imported exclusively from the Philippines can be made in the empire.

JAP CAPITAL DESTINATION OF WAR ACE

NEW YORK, April 6.—(AP.)—Lieut. Bert Hall, of Bowling Green, Ky., announced last night that he would attempt a solo non-stop flight across the Pacific from Seattle, Wash. to Tokio, late this month or early in May.

If the ocean flight should be successful, Lieut. Hall said he would continue on around the world by way of Harbin, Moscow, London, St. Johns, N. F. and New York in an attempt to lower the existing time record for encircling the globe.

On the Pacific flight the aviator will be competing for a $27,500 prize offered by the Seattle Chapter of the National Areonautic Association and the Imperial Japanese Aviation Society.

NOTED WAR ACE

Lieut. Hall was one of the seven original members of the Lafayette Escadrille and has an imposing war record. For the past five years he has been engaged in aviation in the Orient.

A single motored monoplane was said to be nearly completed at one of the Long Island factories, and test flights were expected to be begun about April 15. The hopoff from Roosevelt Field for Seattle is planned for the first favorable day between April 20 and May 1, so that favorable winds usual on the Pacific around the first of May might be taken advantage of.

The distance from Seattle to Tokio by the route Lieut. Hall will follow, is 4,300 miles and he estimated his flying time at 47 hours. His associates said he was a capable navigator, although he had never made any long ocean flights.

RUSSIAN CO-EDS DRILL FOR WAR

MOSCOW, April 6.—(INS.)—A new "Battalion of Death," composed of women, will be formed to fight under the Red flag if war breaks out between any of the "capitalistic powers" and the Soviet Union.

Compulsory military drill for co-eds in high schools and universities of Soviet Russia will be started gradually after the spring recess, it was learned today. The experiment will be tried first in 57 schools where girls are now voluntarily learning the art of war, drilling side by side with youths.

KILLING IS CLEARED

1607 Fifth avenue; Carl Lucas, of Fifth avenue, and Tony Marino, of Sheffield street. Their confession implicated Charles Bower, who since the murder pleaded guilty to charges of highway robbery in Criminal Court and was sentenced to serve from two to four years in Western Penitentiary.

The three men were arrested in their rooms Tuesday and Wednesday by detectives working on a chance clue received from a jail inmate. Marino confessed he fired the shot, police say.

WIFE SAW KILLING

The murder of Spehar, for which his wife has been held for the grand jury, occurred the morning of March 4, at the entrance of his garage in the rear of the Spehar home at 459 Stanton avenue. Mrs. Spehar witnessed the killing and told police that three men had attacked her husband with a club and that one of the robbers had shot him. She was not arrested until a week later.

Marino is said to have told detectives this morning that two of the men were waiting in the Spehar garage when the couple returned home and that when the husband attempted to put the car in the garage, the holdup was staged.

CLUE BY CHANCE

The arrest of the three men resulted from a remark made recently by a prisoner in the jail, who is said to have told another inmate that he knew who had staged the holdup and that it was a shame to let the wife suffer for it. The remark was overheard and detectives questioned the man.

Wednesday they took Skalski into custody while he was standing in Fifth avenue near Smithfield street, and 24 hours later arrested Ward. One of the three men is said to be an ex-convict. Detectives believe that another man, a fourth robber, was implicated in the crime, and it is reported that he is now serving time in the Western Penitentiary.

The four prisoners were questioned at the headquarters of the homicide squad and only two of them docketed on the books at the detective bureau, Marino and the woman are charged with being suspicious persons and charges will be entered against the others.

RUBBISH FIRES IGNITE BRUSH

Firemen of Ingram borough were kept busy yesterday and last night answering alarms for half a dozen brush fires. Burning of rubbish is believed to have caused the fires. At one, which started shortly before 7 p. m., the firemen worked for three hours.

Several garages were threatened by the flames.

"SNEAKED DATES" WITH WIFE; ASKS $5,000

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., April 6.—"Sneaking dates with his wife," is charged by Emil Kinsey in a $5,000 suit for alienation of affections against D. W. Steffe. Kinsey avers his wife Blanche and Steffe took automobile rides, part of the time while Kinsey lay helpless with a broken hip.

SHOT HALTS HIM

DRIVER HIT BY POLICE BULLET

Shot when he refused to stop his automobile at the command of Patrolman J. J. Pronio, in Hamilton avenue early today, Howard Robinson, 18, of 7621 Susquehanna street, was fined $25 in Morals Court and held for further hearing in Traffic Court.

Robinson, who said he had bought the car three days ago, was driving without license plates. When he ignored the officer's order, Pronio opened fire and one of the bullets went through the back of the machine, inflicting a slight wound in Robinson's left shoulder.

Robinson was treated at the Pittsburgh Hospital and then was taken to Morals Court for a hearing on a suspicious person charge. He still must face a charge of violating the automobile laws in Traffic Court.

SHOTGUN KILLS ONE ROBBER

CHICAGO, April 6.—(INS.)—One burglar shot to death and another believed to have been wounded, was the score today of Carl Swanson, who surprised two housebreakers as they fled from the home of a neighbor.

Awakened by the barking of his dog and seeing a flashlight beam in the house next door, Swanson got out his double-barrel shotgun. As the robbers fled from the house, Swanson fired.

HITCH HOLDS UP MAGISTRATE ORDERS

Orders to police magistrates warning them that they must stop fining liquor law violators and must hold the violators for court, were further delayed yesterday when it was announced that nothing would be done until after a conference between District Attorney Samuel F. Gardner and City Solicitor Charles A. Waldschmidt, early next week.

Attorney Gardner several days ago announced that he would seek the co-operation of the city magistrates in changing their methods. He holds the magistrates have been over-stepping their authority. Such cases come under the Snyder act, he said.

Waldschmidt intimated that as the magistrates come directly under the orders of Mayor Charles H. Kline, the Mayor might have much to say in making a change. Mayor Kline refused to comment.

11 Years Since U. S. Entered World War

Eleven years ago today on Good Friday, April 6, 1917, the Congress of the United States and President Woodrow Wilson, announced to the world in general and Germany in particular that this country had officially entered into the World War by declaring war on "the Imperial German Government." A peculiar coincidence with regard to the day and date is the fact that while April 6, fell on a Friday twice in 11 years, the same date will not fall on Friday again for 73 years.

Lenten Sermonette

By REV. O. H. MILLIGAN, D. D.
Avalon United Presbyterian Church.

CHRIST LAID DOWN HIS LIFE

John 10:15, "I lay down my life for the sheep."
—Jesus Christ.

Just as Christmas may be merely a festiva to babyhood, and Easter a greeting to spring, so Good Friday may be only a gesture to grief and suffering instead of a beholding of "The Lamb of God who taketh away the sin of the world."

Christ diverts our attention from the pathos of his passion to His purpose, from man's plot to His own power, from man's wicked crucifixion to His own sacrifice for man.

Christ's death on the cross was not humanity's upward reach for God, but God's reach for humanity. He shed His blood for the remission of sins. He died as a Redeemer. His was not a life taken, but a ransom given. His was not a defeat heroically endured, but a victory heroically achieved. He suffered to save sinners, not to elicit sympathy.

"Just as I am—without one plea,
But that thy blood was shed for Me,
And that thou bid'st me come to Thee,
O Lamb of God, I come."

Sore, Aching Feet

Tender feet—tired, aching, burning and swollen feet! The minute you put them into a "Tiz" bath you can feel the pain being drawn out and glorious comfort being restored.

"Tiz" draws out the poisons and acids that cause your feet to ache, swell and burn. It also takes the soreness out of corns, callouses and bunions. Get a box of "Tiz" at any drug or department store and have real foot comfort at last. Costs only a few cents.

Bathe Them in "TIZ"

Try Buttermilk To-Night for Skin Beauty

Brings Big Improvement Almost At Once.

In one week you will be surprised at the way sallowness, wrinkles around the eyes and mouth, and enlarged pores disappear if you make it a beauty habit to pat a little of Howard's Buttermilk Cream into your skin before you go to bed.

There's nothing like good old-fashioned buttermilk to nourish and tone the tissues, tighten sagging muscles and make the complexion fresh, clear and lovely.

May Drug Co. and every good druggist has Howard's Buttermilk Cream and he is authorized to return your money if after using it for a week you aren't delighted with results.

Mrs. H. P. Smith

Bethlehem, Pa.—"Early in my married life I was advised to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription as a tonic and nervine. I found so much real help from it during my first expectant period that I have taken it each time and its splendid effect on my entire system kept me in good health and spirits through these trying days. I have no hesitation in recommending the 'Prescription' to mothers and mothers-to-be as a most reliable and safe tonic to give them strength and courage."—Mrs. H. P. Smith, 339 6th Ave.

Procure it from your druggist, in either liquid or tablet form. Write Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., if you desire medical advice. This carries no charge.

DEATH ROLL

A. W. Grant, Jr.

A. W. Grant, Jr., 41, died yesterday at the Sewickley Valley Hospital. Mr. Grant, mechanical engineer associated with the Koppers Company during the last 12 years, lived at Beaver and Glen Mitchell roads, Glen Osborne. He was born in Norfolk, Va., and was a graduate of Virginia Polytechnic Institute in the engineering class of 1907 and of Cornell University, 1909. Since then he had been associated with several steel companies, the Baldwin Locomotive Works, the United Gas Improvement Company and the Koppers Company. He leaves his wife, Mrs. Alice Preston Grant; his father, Admiral Albert Weston Grant, United States Navy, retired; his mother and six children.

Funeral of Father Fowler

Funeral services will be held today for the Rev. Fidelis Fowler, C. P., 54, Passionist missionary, who died Tuesday in St. Joseph's Hospital. The services will be held at the Passionist Monastery of St. Paul of the Cross, Monastery street, South Side, and the body will be buried in the cemetery in the rear of the monastery. Father Fowler spent 35 years in South America and took sick two months ago while en route to Pittsburgh from Buenos Aires, Argentina.

Mrs. Hannah Cromer

Mrs. Hannah Crawford Charlton Cromer, 85, widow of George W. Cromer, died yesterday in the home of her son, Horace Cromer, 7224 Idlewild street. She was born in Maddenville, Pa., and moved to Pittsburgh when a girl. She was a member of the Homewood Methodist Episcopal Church. She leaves her son.

What Would You Give To Get Rid Of

NERVOUSNESS

In 9 Days And Have Steady Vigorous Nerves?

Never mind what causes nervousness, what you want is to get rid of that shyness—that trembling—that timidness—that exhausted, shaky, irresolute feeling that comes from uncontrolled nerves.

Don't worry any longer—worry and fear bring on mental as well as physical exhaustion.

There's a new remedy that every nervous person ought to know about that druggists are now dispensing and it is called Lifetone Tablets.

Because of its speedy action it is the one big seller for nervousness today and May Drug Co. and live druggists, America over, sell a bottle of 72 tablets (9 days treatment) for $1.09 and sell it with the distinct understanding that if after taking one bottle your nerves are not steady and vigorous, your mind keener and your general health greatly improved—your money back.

Nervous men and women owe it to themselves to throw aside their indecision and get a bottle of Lifetone Tablets today. It isn't much to pay to bring back that feeling of confidence and self reliance that comes with well balanced nerves always under control.

STATE JUDICIARY MEETS ON CRIME PREVENTION

EXPERTS FINISH PROPELLER TESTIMONY

Taking of testimony in the patent infringement suit of the Reed Propeller Company, Inc., of New York against the Standard Steel Propeller Company of West Homestead, heard by Federal Judge R. M. Gibson, was completed yesterday. Arguments by counsel will be made later.

During the four-day hearing, witnesses with national reputations in the airplane industry were called, including Anthony H. G. Fokker of New York, airplane designer and builder; Prof. Alexander Klemen, director of the Guggenheim School of Aeronautics at the New York University; Richard Depew, president of the Fairchild Flying Corporation, and Dr. A. Reed, inventor of the Reed airplane propeller.

The defendant called to the stand Frank Caldwell, civilian engineer for the United States Army at Wright Field, Dayton, O., and Commander C. H. Havell of the United States Navy at Washington, in charge of airplane construction for that branch of service. Many propellers were used as exhibits, among them a duplicate of the one used by Col. Lindbergh on the trans-Atlantic flight, Standard concern.

CONFERENCE TO DISCUSS PENAL CODE CHANGES

PHILADELPHIA, April 6.—Criminal Court judges and district attorneys from all counties of the state gathered here today to discuss changes in criminal laws and practice necessary to meet modern conditions and check the spread of crime. The conference will continue throughout today and tomorrow.

Chief Justice Robert von Moschzisker, opening the assembly, explained that the purpose was not to discuss the so-called crime wave, which he characterized as a much-abused expression, but "to discuss certain features of the criminal law, especially on its administrative side, and to decide what can be done to make it fit the times in Pennsylvania."

"We have not gathered, however, to draft statutes," the chief justice said. "We are here merely to formulate our views, after discussion, and to express them to the Penal Law Commission, which in turn, will advise the Legislature, whose duty it is to make statute law and to initiate constitutional amendments. We need not even debate whether certain of the suggestions on our program require constitutional amendments.

"If such amendments are required to give validity to proposed legislation, let us take it for granted, so far as our present work is concerned, that, should we recommend anything calling for a change in the fundamental law, and our advice is accepted, the change will be made in due order."

12 PROPOSITIONS

Justice von Moschzisker explained that a committee in charge had outlined 12 propositions printed in a pamphlet sent out more than a month ago to all of the judges who sit in criminal courts in the state. This was done so that they might have an opportunity to consider, well in advance of the meeting, the subjects set aside for discussion.

"Pennsylvania can boast of being rid of many rules that fetter the administration of justice and form matters of complaint in other states," the Chief Justice said. "For instance, the rule restricting the trial judge from commenting on evidence; the rule that an erroneous instruction which by any possibility might have affected the verdict, should be counted reversible error, and other rules that could be mentioned. We still, however, have plenty of room for reform."

District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner, of Allegheny county, and his first assistant, Andrew T. Park, represent Tlegheny county.

ANNEXATION MOVE FOUGHT

Residents of Ross township opposed to annexation by the city have been ordered to file a bill of particulars on an appeal against the annexation, by Judge Joseph M. Swearingen. The order was issued a short time after a petition presented by the annexationists had been granted. A hearing will be held Monday.

The appeal filed by the anti-annexationists stated that the petition placed before City Council and signed by those in favor of annexation contained names of dead persons, minors and signatures secured by misrepresentation.

Attorney Ralph H. Smith is representing the annexationists and Attorney John E. Winter is representing those against the movement.

Two Ways to Spend Money on Streets

One is to keep on resurfacing and patching an old pavement. This is expensive, and the street is never satisfactory—never smooth.

The other is to repave with portland cement concrete. This is economical, because concrete is rigid and strong. It stays smooth as built. It is the safest pavement in bad weather.

MARKET HOUSE RE-EQUIPMENT SOUGHT

In return for certain concessions on the part of stall holders there, the city may install a new refrigeration system in the Diamond Market.

At a hearing yesterday before a special council sub-committee, headed by Councilman Daniel Winters, a committee representing the stall holders asked that a new system be installed to replace the present obsolete refrigeration. In return they agreed to pay the electric bills individually and submit without protest to some increase in rentals, to be adjusted later.

They also said that a new system, by reducing the force of engineers and by other economies, would save the city about $40,000 annually. A preliminary estimate places the cost of the new system at $80,000.

ACTORS FIGHT NEAR FUNERAL

Because they fought in a North Side street and interrupted a funeral service yesterday, James E. Marshall, 22, and Leo Fountain, 20, actors of New York, today will face disorderly conduct charges in North Side police court. The two are appearing at a Beaver avenue theater.

Yesterday in their rooms in the York Hotel, East Diamond street, they argued who was the better actor and finally decided to settle the dispute in the street. While milling around before a blow had been struck they ran into a crowd of mourners in front of an undertaking establishment and were arrested.

STEEL DISTRICT FARM CENTER

In spite of the Pittsburgh district being a great iron and steel manufacturing center, its agricultural production value is more than $50,000,000 annually, it was brought out yesterday at an agricultural conference held in Chamber of Commerce auditorium under the auspices of the chamber's committee on agriculture.

One hundred and twenty-five representatives of farms and granges in Western Pennsylvania were present. T. D. Arman of the Pennsylvania "Stockman and Farmer" presided.

"CHOCOLATE BARS" NEAR GREENSBURG HOLD RUM

GREENSBURG, Pa., April 6.—"Chocolate bars" was the marking on a box in the confectionery store of Cesare Preti, 46, at Ethel Spring Lake. But county detectives found it contained whisky, and Preti was arrested for the third time for violating the liquor laws.

Thin Folks! Here's 5 Pounds of Solid Flesh or Money Back

Underweight means your vitality is under par, your strength and energy below normal, so no wonder if you are thin, scrawny, with sunken chest and hollows in your cheeks you always feel down in the mouth, discouraged and rundown in health.

There isn't an underweight man or woman on earth who wouldn't feel better if their weight was what it should be.

That's why every man and woman whose bones are scantily covered and who want to gain in health and have an attractive figure should take advantage of McCoy's offer.

McCoy takes all the risk—Read this ironclad guarantee. If after taking 4 sixty-cent boxes of McCoy's Tablets or 2 one-dollar boxes any thin, underweight man or woman doesn't gain at least 5 pounds and feel completely satisfied with the marked improvement in health—your druggist is authorized to return the purchase price.

The name McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets has been shortened—just ask for McCoy's Tablets at May's Drug Stores or any drug store in America.

CHAIR BEATEN, MRS. BOVE FACES LIFE OF TOIL

BABES HER ONLY THOUGHT AS SHE'S FREED

By ALMA SIOUX SCARBERRY.

For six months a helpless pawn of the law, justice cried for her life. Then Angeline Bove walked into the sunshine of a spring afternoon a free woman. A jury had found her "Not Guilty" of the murder of her husband.

A bride at 15. A mother at 16. Branded with the red stain of murderess at 21. Freed on the eve of Good Friday, to spend Easter with her two babies—Alfonso, 4, and Jose, 2.

If Angeline, tiny and tired, could write her story in her own words it would indeed prove that "truth is stranger than fiction."

In the office of her attorney surrounded by happy friends and relatives, the little widow seemed in a daze. For she had expected the worst. In a corridor off the courtroom while the jury was deciding her fate a nurse stood over her with bromides begging her to keep up. But Angeline, shaky with hysteria, moaned pathetically:

"No, no! I am afraid. Please leave me alone."

A few minutes later she was hardly the same girl. Plans tumbled from her lips like the plans of a school girl about to embark upon a summer vacation:

"Oh, I'm going to work. I'll have to support my babies. All I have is a little life insurance to count on. I shall work and forget. Nothing matters to me now but my babies."

Baby Alfonso overheard and helped helpfully:

"Mamma go home. Me take you. Me know where our house is."

Then mamma had to explain that they were going to grandmother's home on Gopher street and not to that house of heartbreak and tragedy on Agnew street, where his daddy had been shot and killed last fall.

Alfonso cuddled into the arms of his frail little mother and seemed to be trying to understand it all. Once he said:

"You out of jail, mamma. You not go back."

And an older woman shuddered and told Angeline:

"Now, Mrs. Bove, you must begin right now to make your babies forget that ugly word—jail. It will always hang over them—and you don't want them to remember you except as you are now."

Angeline buried her face in Alfonso's little shoulder and began to cry:

"No, no, baby. We must forget. Don't ever mention that to me again."

She then went on planning, trying to keep her voice light:

"We are going out for a nice walk Sunday, honey—like we did last spring. Mother will show you the flowers and the birds—and take you to the park. Won't that be fun?"

Her attorney, Charles B. Prichard, turned from the mother and her child to wipe his eyes. Someone laughed. Perhaps to cover his real feelings. It seemed out of place to ask questions of the woman who had just been given her life. But she answered them, clinging hungrily to her eldest son. We learned:

Angeline will never marry again. That she is the happiest girl in the world. That her life will be devoted to making of Jose and Alfonso men of whom she will some day be proud. She has no idea what her work will be, but she wants to train for something of a refined nature and not go back to a factory where she began work at the age of 14 to help her father support his 12 children.

Each member of the jury shook hands with Angeline Bove and said "God bless you." She climbed into a cab and hurried to her old Italian mother—and to see the little baby sister a month old. For Mrs. Stellute herself, at 46, brought another child into this world that brought her so much sorrow.

DEMOCRAT NEW OHIO SENATOR

COLUMBUS, O., April 6.—(AP.)—Ohio's senatorial representation today was split between Republicans and Democrats with the appointment of Cyrus Locher, of Cleveland, a Democrat, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Senator Frank B. Willis, who had sought the Republican presidential nomination.

Locher, appointed by Gov. A. V. Donahey, will be succeeded in his former post as director of commerce by Lieutenant Governor Earl D. Bloom, of Bowling Green, also a Democrat, it was announced today by the governor.

Locher will present himself in Washington April 16 to take the oath of United States Senator. He has been a member of Gov. Donahey's cabinet for more than five years and has been one of the governor's closest political advisers.

Local Mill Man Is Given Wonderful Relief by Popular Ten Herbs.

"Although I am 60 years of age, I feel like a man of 20, and I give Ten Herbs all the credit for the great change in me," was the statement of Mr. James McClelland, 44 Greenleaf Street, Pittsburgh, to the Ten Herbs Man, who is at May's

MR. JAMES McCLELLAND

Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily demonstrating this popular medicine.

"Before using Ten Herbs, I suffered with my stomach, liver and kidneys for some time," continued Mr. McClelland, who is a mill man. "My stomach was badly disordered, I was troubled with gas and bloating after eating. I would have heartburn so badly at night that I could not sleep, and I never had much appetite. My kidneys seemed to be in a very bad condition. I was not able to sit up at times, and at other times I could not lie down. Ten Herbs gave me such wonderful relief that I am pleased to recommend it to all who are suffering as I was."

The demand for Ten Herbs in this city is increasing by leaps and bounds. It probably is the most widely discussed medicine ever introduced here. Men and women of all stations in life are daily telling the Ten Herbs Man of the amazing benefits they have been given. Many claim this great herbal medicine relieved them of stomach, liver, or bowel trouble after they had given up hope of ever being well, having tried medicine after medicine without feeling the slightest change for the better in their condition.

Ten Herbs is Nature's own medicine—free from minerals, opiates and any harmful ingredients. It not only tones up the stomach, kidneys and liver, but regulates the bowels, and gives the entire system a thorough cleansing, usually making one feel better in every way. Ten Herbs builds strength, adds weight, increases energy, relieves aches and pains, and restores appetite and sleep. It has helped others and why not you?

The Ten Herbs Man is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine. Free sample given.

CLERGY TO GATHER HERE FOR STRIKE DATA

NOTABLES PLAN TO HEAR ALL VIEWS

What is termed a sincere and impartial effort on the part of clergymen of the east to get first-hand information on conditions in the coal fields of Western Pennsylvania will be made here April 24 and 25, when prominent clergymen from all parts of the country east of the Mississippi hold a two-day conference. The movement was started in New York by leaders of the Methodist Episcopal, Congregational and Jewish leaders, other denominations joining later.

Invitations have been extended to Horace P. Baker, president of the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Corporation; J. D. A. Morrow, president of the Pittsburgh Coal Company; John H. Jones, president of the Bertha Consumers Coal Company; Philip Murray, international vice president of the United Mine Workers of America, and John J. Brophy, chairman of the National Save-the-Union committee, to address the clergymen.

Each of the men has been asked to explain the situation as he personally see it, according to the Rev. Albert Edward Day, of Christ Methodist Episcopal Church here.

Clown Election for Illinois, Says Will

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 6.—Illinois is faced with another one of its clown elections. There is a woman running over there for Congress that Alice Longworth told me one time had the keenest political mind of anyone in Washington, and was the most able woman that could possibly enter politics, Its' Mrs. McCormack. Now if you elect her she will be scatch. And when she is, she will be heard from. She is not like other women that go into politics who gets up and tells you about the "woman's angle." She tells you about the people's angle. When you women enter a man's game, there is only one angle. Yours for information on real candidates.

TWO BOYS HELD IN ATTEMPT TO WRECK TRAIN

MILLERSBURG, Pa., April 6.—(AP.)—Three Fisherville youths who are charged with trying to wreck a Pennsylvania passenger train near Lykens Valley Junction by placing bolts on the rails last Sunday, were given hearings before Justice Newton High here yesterday.

The youngest of the trio, John Shultz, 15, was placed in the care of the county probation officer, while the others, Webster Dieter and Clyde Bordner, each 16, were held for the Criminal Court.

The boys admitted, police say, that they tried to cause a wreck by placing five steel bolts, 10 inches long by one inch in diameter, on the tracks. They said they watched the newspapers to see if there had been a wreck as a result of their efforts.

The first train to pass the place where the bolts were laid was a passenger carrying from 30 to 40 persons on Monday morning. Engineer Harry Keiger brought the train to a stop after running over three of the bolts and the train did not leave the tracks.

LARGE WHALE WASHED ASHORE DURING STORM

WILMINGTON, N. C., April 6.—A 54-foot whale, the largest ever washed ashore in this district, was tossed up on the beach at Wrightsville during a storm Wednesday night.

FIRES AT WIFE; ENDS LIFE

KANE, Pa., April 6.—(AP.)—August Linde, 55, a restaurant proprietor of Mt. Jewett, 12 miles east of here, committed suicide late yesterday by slashing his throat with a razor and shooting himself after slightly wounding his wife, according to reports to county authorities.

The shooting was said to have followed a quarrel between Linde and his wife. He was said to have fired a revolver at Mrs. Linde at such close range she was burned by powder. He then cut his throat and pressed the revolver to his throat and fired, authorities were told.

SHERIFF FREED IN SLAYING

MADILL, Okla., April 6.—(AP.)—Sheriff Ed Long was freed yesterday of a charge of murder for the slaying of County Attorney Franz J. Kim, whose steel breast plate failed to protect him from bullets that ended an argument between him and the sheriff last Monday.

The shooting occurred at a meeting of the county commissioners in the court house here. Witnesses testified at Long's preliminary hearing that Kim advanced toward the sheriff with a revolver and was protected by armor which he wore on his breast and back.

The sheriff fired and one bullet glanced from the edge of the steel plate and fatally wounded him. The county attorney had protested payment of a claim of $62 to the sheriff for returning a prisoner to the county.

Brush Flies Open; Sixty Diamonds Nabbed

FREE CITY OF DANZIG, April 6.—(AP.)—When a motor bus from Marienburg arrived at the Danzig customs office at Kalthof, one of the passengers, Moses Saulfried, thought it a good opportunity to brush from his clothes the dust which had accumulated on the long ride. He opened his grip, took out a brush, and started vigorously on the operation. Meanwhile the customs officers were examining his luggage.

Suddenly the back of the brush flew open and a flood of diamonds rolled to the floor. Moses looked up in surprise and earnestly protested that he had forgotten to declare them. He was arrested and the diamonds were confiscated.

The diamonds totaled 60 and were estimated to be worth about $70,000.

Good Cheer

New fitness — new energy in a morning drink

Do this on rising in the morning if you feel out of sorts or unfit.

Drink a glass of water, hot or cold. Add a little "Eposnade," and you will have a sparkling and refreshing drink.

In an hour things will change. The drink will flush the intestines to eliminate the poisons and the waste. This is done in a prompt and pleasant, in a gentle and efficient way.

It is done by acids derived from lemon and grape.

Then remember this drink—"Eposnade" in water—whenever any clogging occurs. Take it any hour of the day. That's the quickest and the best way to correct things. Let a trial prove this to you. Get a small quantity, at small cost, at your druggist.

MAKE MORE MONEY

Healthy, vigorous men land life's best prizes. Buoyant step, bright eyes, clear complexion and exuberant vitality denote a system free from impurities. Constipation poisons the whole system, slows the step, saps energy, destroys confidence and cuts down the earning power.

Rid your system of constipation and its poisons. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets remove them gently, tone up the system, clear the eyes and complexion and bring back normal vigor. A compound of vegetable ingredients, prescribed to patients for 20 years in place of calomel. They act easily and quickly on bowels and liver.

Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets and keep fit for the daily grind. Thousands of happy men and women use them regularly as an aid to success in their everyday tasks. Know them.

Elsie Janis to Reach Screen In Person of Madge Bellamy Who Will Sing as Well as Act

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS,
Motion Picture Editor of Universal Service.

LOS ANGELES, April 6.

PLAYING Elsie Janis in the movies will mean more to Madge Bellamy than just acting. She will sing the Elsie Janis songs and really sing them too, for the Fox Company will produce "Mother Knows Best," with Movietone.

I don't really think it's necessary to go into detail about "Mother Knows Best." Edna Ferber wrote the story for Cosmopolitan Magazine and it's doubtful if any short story in years has created such a furore. It was supposed to be the story of Elsie and her mother, Mrs. Beerbower, who has become known during Elsie's career as one of the most conspicuous stage mothers.

No one ever sees Elsie without her mother. They have been the subject of jokes, comments and articles and yet Mrs. Beerbower's influence has always remained dominant in her talented daughter's life.

Madge Bellamy, who has a very good singing voice, has been rehearsing all of Miss Janis' songs. Jack Blystone will direct and you may count this as one of Fox's important pictures for the next year.

Hollywood is slow in giving recognition, but once it relents success comes fast. Lothar Mendes, for a whole year, waited around for a chance to direct and now he is doing so well that Emil Jannings told me yesterday that Mendes will direct another picture with him. "Lothar," said Mr. Jannings, "is a fine director, so fine I have him for my next picture." That, you will admit, is praise indeed. It means Mal St. Clair, who was to direct Mr. Jannings, has two other pictures coming up, one of them "The Fleet's In," with Clara Bow. Isn't that a title? Can't you see all the sailor boys with Clara making eyes at them? Mr. Jannings says that his next is a Jewish story and I gathered from what he told me that it has to do with Ellis Island. He is finishing "The Street of Sin" with Lothar Mendes megaphoning.

PITT PREPARES FOR STOCK

George Sharp, of the George Sharp Players, opening their second season of stock with "Take My Advice," in the Pitt next week, has booked some of the biggest successes of the past few seasons for his summer season in the Pitt.

"Wings," the aviation film which has been running for months on Broadway, will have its Pittsburgh premiere in the Nixon next Monday night. William Wellman, former member of the Lafayette Escadrille, directed this picture, which has Charles Rogers, Richard Arlen and Clara Bow in the principal roles.

"The Love Call," Sigmund Romberg's musicalization of the famous drama, "Arizona," will be seen in the Alvin next week, beginning Tuesday night. Monday night's performance of this operetta will be given at Syria Mosque under the auspices of Syria Temple Automobile Club.

It is several seasons since a dramatic sketch such as "The Valiant," coming to the Davis next week has been presented as part of a vaudeville bill in this city. Bert Lytell is to appear in it.

200 AT CONFERENCE HERE OF GAS COMPANY AGENTS

Two hundred representatives of natural gas companies attended a conference at the William Penn Hotel, held yesterday under the industrial representative plan now in operation among companies subsidiary to the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey. Those attending were representatives of employes and managers of the Peoples Natural Gas Company, Columbia Natural Gas Company, the Hope Construction and Refining Company and the Hope Natural Gas Company.

Watch Their Heads

Check Dandruff

Youngsters usually get dandruff at school; promiscuous use of combs, towels, etc., brings it on. At the first sign of it, go after it with Listerine, the safe antiseptic. You simply douse it on full strength and massage the scalp vigorously. Keep the treatment up systematically. Unless the case is a very serious one, requiring the attention of a physician, you will note improvement within ten days. Lambert Pharmacal Company, St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A.

TRIED IT YET? New and different! LISTERINE SHAVING CREAM. Your skin feels marvelously cool long after shaving.

FORGIVEN ONCE, SUSPECTED IN 2ND THEFT

Once forgiven for her alleged erring ways and accepted as a daughter to be adopted by her employer, Martha Julia Fisher, 18, of South Library, today faces charges of larceny and forgery. The girl disappeared Tuesday night in a taxicab from the home of Mrs. Dorothy Peterson, 1419 Mervin avenue, Dormont. According to reports to the county detectives by Mrs. Peterson, the house had been ransacked, clothing valued at more than $100 taken and three checks for amounts aggregating $16 forged and cashed.

Mrs. Peterson told the detectives that the girl had been in her employ since she had lef school. About two years ago she said the girl had taken wearing apparel valued at $100, but had admitted the theft and had since worked so loyally that she had reinstated herself to the extent that the family considered adopting her as a daughter. Mrs. Peterson, returning home Tuesday, found the house ransacked from cellar to attic and many valuable articles missing. Neighbors, she said, told her that they had seen the girl depart in a taxicab.

In Jail on Booze Charge, Fined on Another

Morris Silverman, serving a four-months sentence in the county jail for violation of the National Prohibition act, was brought into Federal Court yesterday for another trial on a similar charge. He was fined $150 by Judge W. H. S. Thomson when he pleaded guilty on the second charge.

FIREMEN DASH, FIND ONLY DRUNK AT BOX

When firemen answered an alarm yesterday from a box at South St. Clair and Eva streets, they report finding Harry Cooper, 37, of 6025 Broad street, slightly the worse from moonshine, leaning against the box. Today in Frankstown Avenue Police Court Cooper could not remember the incident. He was held for court on a misdemeanor charge.

LIGHTNING BOLT HITS HOUSE NEAR GREENSBURG

GREENSBURG, Pa., April 6.—When lightning struck electric wires on the home of J. W. Rummell, in Fairfield township, it took a merry course through the house and ended by shattering the front door of a chicken coop in the rear. The bolt tore a hole through the roof of the residence, splintered the rafters and then jumped to a radio aerial, from which it shot off to the chicken coop.

"I Can't Possibly Put Prices In This Ad"—SAYS MR. HAMBURGER

"No! It's impossible! Things are being sold too fast for that. I'm actually afraid that whatever I'd describe here would be sold before the newspaper is published. Then, you might be disappointed—and I certainly don't want that! I know that there are a number of fine living room suites here now that I've tagged $65.00, $85.00, $110.00 and $135.00! Up on the second floor there are some dining room suites of 9 pieces at $50.00, $65.00 and $85.00, and a number of floor sample suites at $110.00 and $135.00! I can't guarantee how long they'll be here. I wouldn't be a bit surprised if they were sold early tomorrow morning. The same thing is true of bedroom suites (which are $45.00, $60.00, $85.00, and so forth). In fact, right through the eight-floor building, from chairs to tables, from stoves to refrigerators, from rugs to linoleum, I've marked everything far below cost, and everything is selling like hot-cakes.

"Now I know that tomorrow is the day before Easter. Most of you are thinking about clothes! But, furniture is more important, and when you can buy high-grade furniture like this for LESS THAN COST, forget about clothes and come in and get it. If you miss this chance, you'll be sorry for years to come."

VETERANS SEEK TO LAND ALL COURT JOBS

Only war veterans should be entitled to appointment as court criers and tipstaffs, members of Allegheny County Council, Veterans of Foreign Wars, believe. They have made the request in a resolution to be sent to the judges of Common Pleas and County Courts tomorrow, urging them to appoint only veterans of the Spanish-American and World Wars.

The resolution recalls that at one time all court criers and tipstaffs here were Civil War veterans. "During the past few years there have been very few veterans of the Civil War physically able to perform the duties of crier or tipstaff," the resolution states.

AMERICA PROTESTS ATTACK ON PRIEST

WASHINGTON, April 6.—(AP.)—The State Department was notified yesterday by its consul general at Hankow, Frank P. Lockhart, that he had protested to provincial authorities following an attack on March 20 on the Rev. James J. Lewis, an American, by Chinese soldiers.

Mr. Lewis was severely wounded when the soldiers invaded the Catholic mission compound at Kiante, China, Lockhart's account said.

DETROIT-BUFFALO AIR RECORD SHATTERED

BUFFALO, N. Y., April 6.—A new record was attained yesterday for the Detroit-Buffalo air route by the Ford Air Lines, according to the director of operations of the Buffalo airport.

Pilot George Shore, driving a trimotored Ford plane made the trip from Detroit to this city in one hour and 35 minutes. He left Detroit at 8:45 a. m., carrying 1,500 pounds of freight, and arrived here at 10:20 a. m.

COOLIDGE MAY ATTEND RITES

International News Service.

NEW YORK, April 6.—Elaborate preparations are being made today for the funeral of Chauncey Mitchell Depew, distinguished statesman, financier and railroad executive, who died at his home here early yesterday in his ninety-fourth year.

The funeral services will be held tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock at St. Thomas' Church, Fifth avenue. Burial will be tomorrow afternoon at Peekskill, N. Y., the birthplace of Mr. Depew and the home of his youth.

If his duties will permit, President Coolidge hopes to come here from Washington for the funeral.

Fifty members of the Union League Club, including Elihu Root, will go to the church in a body. Mr. Depew was the third oldest member of the club in duration of membership.

Bishop William T. Manning, Bishop Ernest M. Stires and the Rev. Rolin H. Brooks will officiate at the religious rites at St. Thomas' Church tomorrow. The boy choir of the church will sing.

The body will be taken to Peekskill by automobile.

KILLS SELF AS JOB WAITS

NEW YORK, April 6.—(INS.)—Success was just around the corner for Perke Hamburg, but just around the corner was too far away to answer the immediate financial needs of the brilliant musical director. He killed himself with a dueling pistol in a hotel here early today.

Hotel officials said Hamburg had been unable to pay when asked for an advance payment on his suite of rooms. But in a few short weeks he was to have received $1,000 in cash and $500 a week thereafter for acting as musical director of a forthcoming theatrical production, according to a contract found in his pocket.

ALL DETROIT PAPERS NOW SELL AT 3 CENTS

DETROIT, April 6.—(INS.)—The Times and the News, Detroit evening newspapers, were sold on the streets yesterday for 3 cents a copy, an increase of 1 cent. The home delivered price of the Times and News remains at 15 cents a week, by carrier. No change was made in the Sunday price of 10 cents a copy. The increase was made necessary by the rapidly mounting costs of production and the high quality of the modern newspapers, it was explained. The price of the Free Press, a morning newspaper, remains unchanged at 3 cents a copy for the daily and 10 cents a copy for the Sunday edition.

New Spring Coats

For Women and Misses

$25 39.75 $59

All the enthusiasm of Springtime itself is clearly reflected in these new coats. The silhouette for 1928 is a bit more feminine than it has been for some time . . . created by the youthfulness and vigor of the cape and scarf modes . . . the clever manipulation of fabric in fine tucking, in slot seaming, in insets of satin. Fur is present or is conspicuously absent . . . it contradictorily presents itself on the collar but not the cuffs . . . or on the cuffs but not the collar!

Men's White Shirts

Men desirous of having every bit of their Easter attire new, and fresh, will take eager advantage of to-day's or to-morrow's opportunity to purchase a white shirt. There are plenty here—collar-attached and neckband styles—and in sizes to fit every man. Of serviceable white broadcloth in various grades.

Men's "Cavalier" Suits

$50

At no time throughout the year are we better equipped than right now to offer you satisfactory choice in a fifty-dollar suit of better-than-ordinary quality. And no other suit in the city can duplicate the overflowing value of these at their standard price. "Cavalier" suits are made after our own specifications of tailoring, style and fabrics. We insist that every suit be a worthy bearer of this label.
And it's common knowledge that each suit does live up to our expectations.

And "Cavalier" Topcoats

$50

These, too, are made for us and their making follows our own directions—naturally, they offer a quality every whit as fine as the suits. Pebble greys and beach tans lead the new Spring shades, though the others are fully as desirable and attractive. Choose a box coat or a raglan shoulder model.

RAIL MERGER TRUNK GROUPS AGREED ON

Why We Behave Like Human Beings

by George A. Dorsey, Ph.D., L.H.D.

Golden Rule Sole Valuable Standard of Behavior

But Society Hates Change, So There Is Difficulty in Getting Started to Practice It

Although we boast of our progressiveness, we jog along in the well-worn ruts that have been handed down to us, Dr. Dorsey showed in The Sun-Telegraph yesterday. Thus we lag many decades behind the condition to which we think we have attained. It is simply a matter of capitalizing the experience of the ages instead of striking out in new lines.

Rational Conduct Only a Dream

CHAPTER LI.

THERE is no knowing man without knowing men. "Everybody's doing it" and "People don't do such things" are collective reactions biologically useful in herds and early human society, but they persist in countless forms today and extend their influence to such unimportant biologic factors in modern life as ruffles on skirts and creases in trousers. "Everybody is" and "People don't" become potent factors in modifying the environment to which individuals are conditioned to respond.

GEORGE A. DORSEY.

Almost before the youngster has learned to respond to the facts of life, he is compelled to learn adjustment to the fancies of life. Human behavior as adjustment is meaningless without understanding the power of social environment to enforce its limited responses upon the newcomers. Society does not easily change its mind, because to change is to acknowledge defeat; it hates to run. Its mind being its entire body and tied up with emotion, it vents its hate on "Don'ts" and much of its energy in enforcing obedience.

But there is almost no limit to the pressure that a normal individual can stand if the pressure is applied gradually; we get calloused: to odors, sights, sounds and bondage of trappings, and the harness by which we draw our burdens. And well for us that we can become accustomed to the burdens of things, people, and situations that we must bear. But man is not by nature a beast of burden or fitted by nature to keep his nose to a grindstone. And the man so yoked or chained is one more human being lost for activities that might be human.

Man's Best Asset

As one recalls some of the monstrous situations under which human beings have lived and live their lives, one marvels at man's meekness and complacency. It can only be explained by that quality of flesh to become calloused to situations that if faced suddenly would provoke blisters and revolt.

Man's inheritance is all right and is his only inherently valuable asset. It is human behavior—individual, communal, national—that can be changed. But not by cut-and-dried programs of social reform; nor by reformers, codes, ideals, or by our present "system" or education. Life itself is not systematized or standardized; if wants to live, it wants to enjoy life. It has a pain sense; it responds to love; above all, it can learn. We start with that equipment. Herein lies the significance of the new conception of human behavior; the importance of the task that confronts the new psychology.

Organized society is—or should be—interested in socially serviceable behavior. Its problem is to control behavior for social ends and at the same time give the individual freedom to express and develop his innate capacities for normal behavior. This cannot be brought about by chance; there will be delinquents, abnormals, subnormals, as long as breeding grounds for such are regarded as normal by-products of social organization. The entire substratum of misfits will disappear only when the environment is so changed that misfits do not form part of its normal output.

"Golden Rule" Golden

Rational conduct is a dream. But conduct freed of sordidness, of squalor, of haunting fears, of ungoverned tempers, should be the possible fate of every normal child. We can at least make this a better world for children to be born into, and so alter their environment that they need not learn to lie, steal murder or commit bigamy to succeed.

The seemingly infinitely large universe is made up of the seemingly infinitely small units of electrons. The universe is what it is because of the nature of their behavior under the drive of energy. That same energy drives us. The units of our social universe are human individuals; it can be molded only as the individuals themselves are molded. Living beings are not elements, but reaction systems; their behavior can be molded. Ours is already set; but it is not necessary that we condition our children to the mold in which we hardened.

In the whole history of human thought there has been voiced only one rule of conduct of the slightest value as a standard for human behavior. It is applicable to individuals, families, communities, cities, states and nations:

"As ye would that men should do to you, do ye also to them likewise."

Task for the Brave

But note that you and I as individuals can never get a start on putting the Golden Rule into practice until we have set our own house in order. When we strip our unethical and infantile hang-overs of behavior of their veneer of rationalization we are likely to be astounded, as Watson points out, at our "susceptibility to flattery, weakness, inadequacy or lack of knowledge, jealousy, fear of rivals, fear of being made the "scapegoats" and proneness to hurl criticism upon others to escape it ourselves. The first step in setting our house in order is to remove the beam from our own eyes—perhaps the hardest task man ever set himself, certainly a task that can be achieved only by the brave.

When human society starts to practice the Golden Rule it will lay a foundation for civilization which no flood or passion can shake. Any other conditioning of our inherent nature leaves us as we are—with an animal nature modified only by man-made devices to satisfy living impulses as old as life itself. Man is the product of evolution; humanity must be the goal of human endeavor.

FOILED BY FIREMEN

This complete assortment of arson materials failed to do its work. It was presented in Criminal Court as evidence against Vincent Tolino, his cousin, Nick Tolino, and Sting Iannelli, acquitted of conspiracy and arson in the partial burning of the Tolino structure, 606½ Rebecca street, Wilkinsburg, March 13. Total insurance on the structure was said to have been $40,000. Firemen extinguished the fire. Standing are, left to right, County Fire Marshall Thomas L. Pfarr, Assistant District Attorney Roy T. AGREE ON RAILROAD MERGER PLAN

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN,
International News Service.

NEW YORK, April 6.—Regrouping into a four-trunkline system of railroads worth from $5,000,000,000 to $10,000,000,000 and operating more than 50,000 miles of trackage, was reported today to have been agreed upon by powerful railroad executives after a series of meetings held here behind closed doors.

The agreement was reached only after a threatened break between L. F. Loree, sponsor of a fifth trunkline between East and West, and the railroad officials who favored the four-trunk system. The break was averted by Otto H. Kahn, a member of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., bankers for Loree and his proposed system.

After negotiations had apparently failed, Kuhn called another meeting at which the agreement was reached. It was said on seemingly credible authority that the plan calls for four trunklines, and not five, and that the plan as finally presented was satisfactory to Loree. Under the plan, it is understood, Loree's Delaware and Hudson is assured access to the west.

The agreement marks a long step forward toward consolidation of the eastern lines, but it does not mean that this goal—which railroad executives have been working on for months has been achieved. The Interstate Commerce Commission must pass on the final plans and their hearings probably would require six months. The minority stockholders must be given opportunity to raise objections to the merger, if they have any, and the interests of individuals and communities must be given consideration.

Loree's fifth-trunk line plan was doomed at a meeting on Wednesday when the Pennsylvania Rail-

GIRL BEATS GIBRALTAR STRAIT

GIBRALTAR, April 6.—(AP.)—Telephoning from Tarifa, Spain, this morning, Mecedes Gleitz, London typist, announced that she had swum the Strait of Gibraltar yesterday.

Miss Gleitz stated she started about 10 a. m. from the Spanish side and crossed the 27-mile stretch of water to Morocco, arriving there at night. She returned to Tarifa later.

She stated she was accompanied on her swim by many Spanish witnesses. She will leave for England this afternoon.

SIDEWALKS OF PITTSBURGH

By HAVEY J. BOYLE

BETWEEN 5 o'clock and 5:30 o'clock every evening countless Pittsburgh motorists assemble in Bigelow boulevard in that stretch between Sixth and Seventh avenues. They mean to pass along, but the traffic becomes so dense that they actually assemble. There are two lanes of cars, headed both east and west, and between the rear fender of one and the front bumper of the car behind you could not place a straw.

HORNS blow, brakes squeak, the exhausts spout bluish vapor, and above all this can be heard the whistles of the traffic policemen who do their best in such a maelstrom to wring order out of the existing chaos. One of the commanding figures in this evening scene is Officer Paddy Sullivan, whose four-inch brogue is now coaxing, adjuring, admonishing and commanding to help keep things moving.

"This is the great American handicap," shouts Officer Sullivan in your ear, "and I never get in this jam but that I think of that horseshoer's shop just around the corner in Webster avenue. Isn't this a funny neighborhood for a blacksmith's shop?

"WELL," says Officer Sullivan, "here they start now and watch them go. Listen to those gears and then the gas hitting the engine—they all think there's a fire some place. Still that's better than those fellows who move so slow you think they want to read all the billboards they pass. By golly, who is this one comin'?—the fire marshal? No, just a hungry motorist who wants to beat the next crossing before the stop sign goes up again."

* * *

RIDERS on a North Side car line are entertained by two colored musicians who strum a banjo and croon a tune on their nightly ride home.

SMALL Town Personals: Our district attorney, Mr. Gardner, is looking well these days . . . Our police superintendent, Pete Walsh, enjoys a boxing show as much as the next one . . . Harry Grelle, the big film man, gave a party to friends to see a new picture he's interested in. South Hills Country Club was the place . . . C. Sherman, the well-known barbecue man, was a guest . . . McKeesport Intelligence: J. McGirr has added an extra chair to his shoppe . . . R. Garrity is now on the Tube City police force . . . Senator Mansfield is getting ready for the baseball opener. He used to be a baseball magnate.

ONE of the best shows is drawing to a conclusion with near-completion of the structural steel work on the William Penn Hotel addition. Passers-by always could spend an enjoyable five minutes watching the structural iron boys do their stuff, riding beams, when they were not walking across space on what looked to the layman like a one-inch footing.

SINCE a recent visit to the Carnegie Museum we have been wondering why one of the figures in the hall of architecture had two faces. Now comes a learned man who says that in the old days some of the sculptors, after completing a work, as a sort of signature put a likeness of themselves on it. We don't expect any extras to be sold on this one. People will likely receive this news very calmly.

"WELL, I'm going after my second million," said the first citizen.

"Oh, yeah," said the, etc.

This never happened. It's supposed to be a joke.

JERRY The Epic of a Girl Who Had to Wait. by Elenore Meherin

Jerry and Saxon Quarrel. Hugh Again Begs Jerry To Marry Him

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Jerry King, good looking, charming and nineteen, falls in love with Saxon Rhodes, a young architect. Marza, her fascinating mother, warns her that idealists like Saxon make poor husbands. When he goes abroad to study, Jerry promises to wait for him. Jerry agrees to wait three years longer. She wonders whether Saxon loves her as completely as she loves him. Saxon's attention to Ora Pringle gives Jerry a pang of jealousy. They attend a week end party where things start to happen. She decides to give Saxon up. She discovers that Marza has another daughter of whose existence her husband had been ignorant. Marza tells Jerry that this sister of hers is dying and needs them both. Stephanie recovers and they go back home. The months pass, and Jerry has not seen Saxon. She goes to a house party and there meets Saxon.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

FROM the shadow of the porch she watched the dancers, Inga in there, a joyous Kewpie with her wide, rippling mouth and bright red hair, Inga singing as John played—singing to him, "There's something nice about everyone, but everything nice about you."

Jerry pressed her cheeks against the moist leaves of a blooming acacia, against the soft, golden streamers. And longed to be lost in the darkness; mingled and lost in the infinite music of the night.

Starry-eyed and the mist in her hair she came down the dim porch in answer to Hugh's half-frightened "Jerry, where are you?"

She smiled dreamily: "It was so lovely out here—so quiet and sweet."

"Ah," said he, his thin, pale face now anxious. "You're not enjoying yourself."

"I am—beautifully."

"But alone. You don't really like these parties, do you? I've an idea that you're less of this generation, though you seem more of it than anyone here—"

Another time she would have liked to talk of this—liked to say how hard she thought it was to be worthwhile; to be a person Today. Oh, much harder than for one's mother. Who can resist a tidal wave?

What of this now! What of anything?

"They've all or nearly all gone down to the Yacht Club. They'll be back for supper. Shall we join them?"

She shook her head. "Is that John playing?"

"Yes—John and Inga."

"Let us go down here, Jerry, into the garden."

"This," said she, aroused by the sudden, sweet pleading look about his mouth, aroused and frightened. "This is better, Hugh. If you like," which she knew he didn't, "we'll go in and dance."

Midnight. Gay voices floating up the path. Singing and hilarity.

"Whee," said little Nellie Spear, whirling like a top in the middle of the floor, "dance with me, Hughie, darling. And I'll give you a whiff of 17 golden phizzes. They were knockouts!"

They came thronging and stamping to the porch, to the garden, to the machines. The trees came to life with color and dim, moving forms.

Ora Pringle, a rather flaunting Juno now with her eyes and cheeks flushed, swept her shawl about her partner—the two of them wrapped together, began to dance.

Mary Pennings beckoned to John.

"Now watch!" whispered Sylvia with a droll grimace.

Mary linked her arm in John's. Their faces were on a level. Quite openly—quite debonairly. Mary raised hers. Her lips closed dreamily, deliberately on John's.

"Nothing stupid about that," said Jerry intrigued by the audacity. She looked about eagerly—smiling and waiting. Where was he? Why didn't he come!

Then she was following Hugh to the garden—"Too marm here—they've all acquired a beautiful edge. Now the night begins, Jerry dear—look out there—the moonlight on the water. Walk down there—"

She followed absently, dreamily—a song in her ears: "Never a girl before you, Jerry—and now I know there can never be another after you—you only—"

They passed shrubs—a bench in the shadows.

Two forms there, the man's arms wound about the girl.

Hurry. She caught Hugh's hand, pushed him on. But in that moment the man in the shadow spoke. Saxon's voice—ah, surely not his voice saying that!

And his arms wound so about Ora Pringle.

She gave a soft, inarticulate murmer and would have hidden her face.

Too late. Saxon with his arms relaxing, gazed full into Jerry's burning eyes.

CHAPTER XLIII.

HALF an hour later they came face to face.

"Jerry—listen!"

"Oh, blah! Great little sofa-sheik you've turned out to be! Get them going and coming, don't you? Winsome wag! The grand little go-getter of the secondhand dames! Big victory, isn't it? Worth drinking up your looks—"

A subtle, electrifying change made his eyes hard: "Drinking? You've never seen me drunk in your life!"

"I've not seen you tester. Haven't seen it get your legs. That's why it's getting your head—eating up your ambition and your ideals and your fineness."

"Don't rant, Jerry. My work speaks for itself."

"A damn sight better for you, Saxon Rhodes, if you were a bit less brilliant. And if you did roll in the gutter after your dozen drinks. Then you'd be humble and take stock of yourself. Instead of your boastful school-boy pride that you can stand up and take your liquor like a traveled gentleman. Time you got over being it. Before all your hair falls out and your jowls get any thicker."

That struck him funny. He went over to a mirror and ran a hand through the thick, tan hair. "'Tis a bit thin at the temples. Gives one an intellectual look."

"Oh, you could boob a corpse out of the coffin. Make it feel like an ass for dying. Go to it—rationalize your own decline. You'll hit bottom sooner. But you'll be so damn soft by then you won't feel the fall; won't even know you've fallen.

"You'd be further ahead, ole dear, if you'd guts enough to cut the rationalizing and swallow remorse now and then."

"Same little censor, aren't we? Same little custodian of men and morals? Up to you to keep the cock-eyed world going straight. Divine right of wives, et cetera."

That landed clean and bitter between the eyes. She saw him coming with a grin, half sneer, half patronage: "Here, have a drink, you'll feel better."

She wished to hurl it in his face. She was white to the lips. But she thought, blazing: "He doesn't win tonight!"

She took the glass and tossed it off: "To the cocky cavalier! Don Juan in rompers! Cheerio!"

He didn't like that and showed his teeth in a mean scowl. She flung a bright, derisive laugh, cutting off his answer with an icy: "Over the river, ole dear! Call again when you've a new bag of tricks!"

Strung tight as though she would snap in two—she felt like this. She walked swiftly, her head arrogantly high and that bright, derisive laughter fixed on her lips.

She met Hugh and with the same false glitter snatched his glass and drained it.

He gave her a whimsical, startled look. She shrugged.

And now they were standing at the garden wall and she was aware of his face, clean-cut and likable, the moonlight enhancing its pallor, his face with a strained smile, turned to hers.

"Why did you snatch my glass, Jerry?"

"Thirst."

"I know. But liquor won't satisfy it . . . not your kind of thirst."

"Will anything? It's a rather disappointing world, isn't it? Nobody's satisfied. And we're always looking for an escape. Weighted with ouselves and the hum-drumness of living.

Merely Margy, An Awfully Sweet Girl

Story by Lloyd Mayer — By John Held, Jr.

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

"My dear, I'm-all-of-a-DOOdah! I mean I'm HONestly TOO imPRESSED with ARab at this point because I ACtually b'lieve I may have misJUDGED him or something because I mean LATEly he's REALly acted as if he was going to sort of snap OUT of it and MAKE something of himself besides a GEN'ral NUISance, do you know what I mean? And I HONestly think that the way I've sort of been TALKing to him about how the AV'rage person just WASTES their LIVES by CONsecrating on TRIVial things and all, my dear, instead of being INT'rested in the SErious side of life and all, has ACtually inSPIRED him with some amBItion besides trying to NECK every attractive girl he MEETS and thinking up WISE cracks to inSCRIBE on that POISonous FLIVver, do you know what I mean? And SOMEtimes I REALly think, my dear, that the HIGHest MISsion a girl can have in LIFE is to sort of be inSPIring to a MAN, my dear, in a kind of SPIRitual WAY or something instead of just trying to inTRIGUE them by FLIRTing madly and wearing terribly short SKIRTS when you have good-looking LEGS, do you know what I mean? I mean I HONestly think I'd sort of FEEL I'd REALly acCOMplished something in life if I could sort of get ARab to REALize there was something more worth WHILE in life than playing a SAXophone, my dear—I mean I ACtually DO!"

Madge Arranges a Double Interview With Veritzen

IT WAS only for an instant that Dicky's eyes held their angry glaring look at me. He has the gentlemen's horror of a scene. He also has wonderful self-control, when he chooses to exercise it. I always have known that Dicky could control his rages if he wished and the knowledge has done much to estrange me from him.

So I was not surprised to see his eyes turn themselves away from me and to hear him address some commonplace remark to Lillian and Mary. Lillian promptly included Noel in the group, and I knew that she would keep them all occupied for the few seconds I needed to say what I wanted to Mr. Veritzen.

My employer had not seen my glance at Dicky, and he potently thought that I had averted my eyes from his in anger. With a tighter pressure of my hands and apparently unmindful of anyone else, he spoke again, his tones still pleading, impassioned.

"Is it impossible for you to forgive me?" he asked. "Surely you realize that I intended no slight to you in my speech."

I twisted my hands from his clasp, forcing a little laugh as I did so.

"Of course, I realize it now," I said. "You must forgive a woman's vanity. It is her strongest characteristic, you know."

"Not in you," he protested gallantly. "But I had no intention of offending you. Nevertheless, I must talk to you about this matter of Miss Lincoln's face being portrayed in an illustration. The posing, of course, does not matter, but the printing is another thing."

I think my eyes betrayed my astonishment, for he added quickly:

"You cannot understand, of course. I am not sure that I do myself. But I have the strongest reasons for my feeling. When can I talk to you about it?"

I was in no mood to accord him an interview, but a sudden thought of Mary's urgent wish to see him made me acquiescent.

"Any time after Monday," I said. "I shall be extremely busy until then. And will it be possible for you to listen to Mary Harrison for a few minutes when you and I shall have finished our talk? She is most anxious to see you."

A grim look came into his eyes and a sardonic little smile curved the corners of his mouth.

"And I am equally anxious to talk to her. May I come over Tuesday, then? At what hour?"

I made a swift mental calculation. Dicky generally returned to the city Monday, but occasionally took a Tuesday forenoon train. I had no desire to have him in the offing when Mary talked to Mr. Veritzen or when I listened to my employer's unaccountable objections to the portrayal of Eleanor Lincoln's face in a magazine illustration. That neither interview affected me personally would make no difference to Dicky I knew. He would persist in reading a personal note into the affair. He might even make a scene about it, for I had noticed a restlessness in him lately which told me that he was chafing under our tacit pact of not interfering with each other's lives.

"Would 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon be convenient to you?" I asked, remembering that Mother Graham was always asleep at that hour and that Lillian and Katherine could be depended on to see that no one else disturbed Mr. Veritzen's interviews with Mary and me.

"That will suit me perfectly," he said, and then the lights of a motor car turned into our driveway and I knew that Otto had brought the Veritzen limousine for the great man and his son.

Sure they're different! Kellogg's Corn Flakes★ have a delicious flavor no one has ever duplicated. They're never tough-thick—but always extra crisp!

Kellogg's CORN FLAKES

Try them with fruits!

Thousands call this test "The most important step of my life!"

NONE of them realized, when they made this simple change in diet, what far-reaching influence for good it would have. You, too, may be skeptical until you make the test.

But do as these others did—and see! Eliminate caffein from your diet for thirty days—drink Postum with your meals instead. Then judge!

Amazing results!

These others found that, with Postum as their mealtime drink, sleeplessness vanished. They slept soundly, naturally. Nervousness, too, disappeared, and with it, headaches and indigestion. They became more alert at work, happier at play. Where they had been, unconsciously, half-sick before, they were now gloriously well!

Nor did they miss anything in mealtime enjoyment! They found that Postum has a distinctive flavor all its own—a rich, full-bodied flavor that millions prefer to that of any other drink.

Order Postum today—start the 30-day test! See what a difference it makes in the way you feel—in the way you look! Your grocer has Postum in two forms—Instant Postum, prepared instantly in the cup, and Postum Cereal, the kind you boil. Both are made of roasted whole wheat and bran—no trace of any artificial stimulant in them. Both cost much less than most other mealtime drinks.

MENU FOR SUNDAY DINNER

SUNDAY MENU.
Puree of Parsnips.
Baked Ham with Pineapple Rings.
Potatoes au Gratin.
Minced Spinach.
Cauliflower and Cheese Salad.
Baked Apples in Cranberry Jelly.

PUREE of parsnips is a rather unusual first course, and the same recipe can be used for carrot or salsify puree.

SCRAPE young parsnips and boil in salted water until tender, usually one-half to three-quarters of an hour. Press through sieve, add butter and seasoning of salt and pepper and sufficient of the water they were cooked in to make the proper consistency. Reheat and serve.

Have a slice of ham cut one inch thick, put in a baking pan with the juice of a can of pineapple and one-quarter of a cup of brown sugar. Bake until tender, about an hour and a half, basting frequently with the juice. Stick four whole cloves in each pineapple slice, arrange on meat and place under the broiler until delicately browned.

Arrange on a bed of lettuce sections of cooked, cold cauliflower, sprinkle generously with grated cheese, garnish with strips of green pepper and cover with French dressing.

FOR potatoes au gratin, cut potatoes in cubes and boil until tender in salted water, or left over cold potatoes may be used. Cover with a cream sauce made by blending one tablespoonful of butter with one tablespoonful of flour, and gradually add one cup of milk, season with salt and pepper to taste. Put in a buttered baking dish, sprinkle the top with bread crumbs and a little grated cheese, and dot with butter. Heat in the oven until crumbs are brown.

Wash your spinach in many waters, put on in tightly covered kettle with no water but that which clings to it. When tender chop. Melt butter in a frying pan, add salt and pepper; toss spinach in this till piping hot and serve.

Arrange sections of cauliflower on lettuce leaves, sprinkle with grated cheese and serve with a French dressing.

Old-fashioned home-made jelly for 7 cents a glass

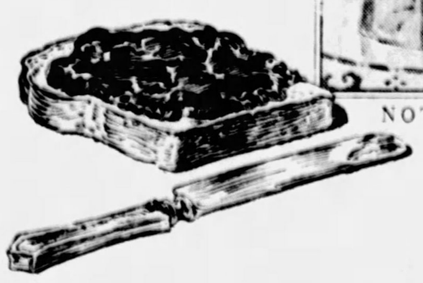
Everyone loves delicious, sparkling home-made fruit jelly!

HERE is a wonderful method that saves all the tiresome work of jelly-making. Now you can prepare clear, delicious jelly in 15 minutes, at a cost of only 7 cents a glass.

Order a package of Post's Instant Jelly from your grocer. Merely boil water and Post's Instant Jelly according to directions on the package, then add sugar. When the jelly is made, you'll find it's the same old-fashioned kind that children love.

Post's Instant Jelly is not a gelatin product. It contains pure fruit ingredients essential to jellies, concentrated into tiny crystals which imprison all the original tang and flavor. Post's Instant Jelly always jells.

POSTUM COMPANY, INC., LE ROY, N. Y.



NOT A GELATIN PRODUCT

There are three flavors—Grape, Currant, Raspberry. The 25-cent package makes six large glasses. Be sure to ask for Post's Instant Jelly.

JUDGE FAVORS WHIPPING

LASH REDUCES CRIME, JURIST ASSERTS

PHILADELPHIA, April 6—(AP)—The whipping of criminals as practiced in Delaware, was suggested here by Judge Joseph Buffington of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, as a means of breaking up crime waves.

"My position in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals has caused me from time to time to look more or less closely into the judicial system of the three states comprising the Third Circuit, New Jersey, Delaware and Pennsylvania, and I am impressed with the comparative lowness of Delaware as compared with New Jersey and Pennsylvania, from the prevalent crime wave," said the judge.

DELAWARE USES THE LASH

Judge Buffington made his statement on the eve of the meeting of about 200 judges of Pennsylvania courts here today to discuss the prevention of crime.

While the judges are in session, the annual meeting of Pennsylvania district attorneys will be held and the same subject will be discussed with a view to drawing up legislation to be presented to the next Legislature.

HIGH SCHOOL DEBATE LEADERS

"WINNER" SHOWS SCORING ERROR

This is the debating team of Union High School, Burgettstown, which entered the finals of the Washington county debating championships because of the honesty of Ethel Roderick, student of California High School. California was declared the winner of the California-Union debate, but Ethel, a member of the team which ostensibly had won, found an error in the scoring. She told all.

AGREE ON MERGER

road definitely withdrew its support to that proposition. The Pennsylvania, however, does support the four-trunk system which eventually become acceptable to Loree. Loree had planned a line to the West (the fifth trunk) to be formed by the Wabash Railway, the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh and the Delaware and Hudson, or, alternatively, the Lehigh Valley. To connect the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh with the Delaware and Hudson, Loree at one time had an agreement for trackage rights with the Pennsylvania, but this no longer exists.

The railroad executives who sat in at the sessions here this week would not discuss the agreement for the new four-trunk system. Loree would neither affirm nor deny the report, referring inquiries to W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, who presided at the meetings.

In Wall street, it was generally believed that Loree's Lehigh Valley holdings probably had been traded to the Pennsylvania in return for an important part in the new alignment. The Wabash Railway, which runs from Buffalo to Chicago and western points and in which Loree has large holdings, may be shared with the Baltimore and Ohio, which has desired that road. The New York Central had been reported as due to receive the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western.

Among those present at the deliberations this week were President Atterbury, of the Pennsylvania; Lorree; P. E. Crowley, president of the New York Central; Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore and Ohio; J. J. Bernet, president of the Erie; O. P. and M. J. Van Sweringen, of the Nickel Plate; A. J. County, financial vice president of the Pennsylvania, and George V. Shriver, senior vice president of the Baltimore and Ohio.

Madam...See how Dishes Gleam and Glisten

when washed this quick new way

This frankly written advertisement tells about a wonderful new soap that makes dishes sparkle and yet cannot harm your hands.

CHINA and glass that sparkle like diamonds . . . drained dry without towels.

Never a trace of soapy film . . . dishes shine spick and span in far less time.

Your precious hands kept white and smooth . . . in spite of three dishwashings a day!

Madam, that's what Super Suds offers you . . . a new way to wash dishes that's faster, easier, safer than any you've ever tried before.

It's a new type of soap made in tiny, thin-walled "beads," that dissolves instantly . . . whisks away all grease and grime . . . rinses quickly . . . leaves dishes glistening clean . . . without a trace of soapy film!

Already thousands have adopted this new way to sparkling dishes and softer daintier hands.

Now we urge you earnestly and sincerely to follow their example. It's too wonderful a household help for any intelligent woman to overlook.

This is why it's so good

No other type of soap is like Super Suds. No other type of soap can give you such remarkable results.

It's the thinnest type of soap ever created. Four times as thin as chip soap.

That's why it dissolves so quickly . . . why it rinses instantly . . . why it saves so much time and energy too.

Super Suds is not made just for dishwashing alone. You can use it for laundry work, too.

There's no need to use your washboard now. No need to scrub and rub until your back just aches from the strain.

And with Super Suds you'll save much time in rinsing. It dissolves so completely that you get along with one less rinsing.

Your wash dries out a wonderful snowy white. There's never a trace of soap stain . . . no grimy, yellow look.

Please make this simple test

Madam, don't take our word for all this. Test Super Suds out for yourself. Just buy one box and compare it with the soap you're using now.

If you don't feel it's as good as we say, then go back to your old soap . . . and you're only out ten cents.

Put it down on your grocery list today.

An Octagon Soap Product. Every box of Super Suds carries a valuable coupon. Cut it out and redeem it with coupons from other Octagon Soap products for desirable premiums.

*A PATENTED PROCESS. Super Suds is made by a process covered by exclusive patents. (Products, process and apparatus covered by U. S. Letters Patent Nos. 1,031,441; 1,090,740; 1,600,501; 1,634,640, and Reissue No. 16,749.)

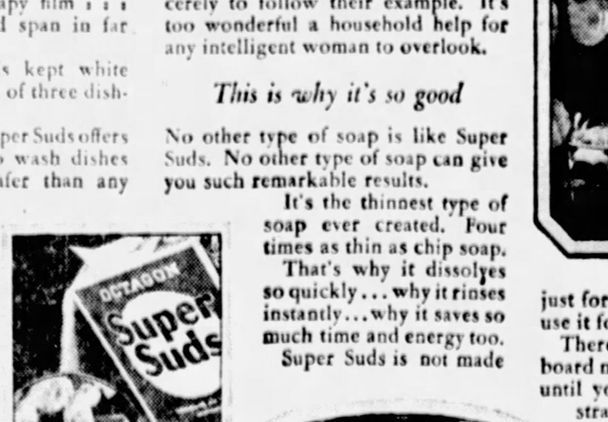
Hands get red when you wash the dishes? They won't when you use Super Suds, Madam. Three dishwashings a day will leave them dainty.



Women marvel when they see these heads of soap magnified. This is how they look.

SUPER SUDS is great for clothes washing. Gets them snowy in no time. No rubbing . . . scrubbing, or extra rinsing. Better try it, Madam.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Glorious Spring Weather Aids in Observing End of Lenten Period

IT HASN'T been at all hard so far this Holy Week, has it, to keep from dances and bridges? For who would want to dance or "bridge" on such glorious days as these? Motoring for motoring's sake has now come into its own, I've found. And while motoring about these last few days I've seen a great many society folks speeding from the city into the country, which lures with its "brand new" grass and swelling buds. Of course the sky and the delightful spring winds are felt in the city, but they seem to have new meaning out in the country, don't you think?

Although society folk have "kept Lent," at least Holy Week, they have been planning ahead. Not even the strictest church father would forbid that delightful pastime—planning—I'm sure. And many a girl during the Lenten season has been making plans for her wedding.

Among these is Martha Barrett Byrnes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence P. Byrnes, of Sewickley. She has named April 21 as the date for her marriage to Calvin Wells, son of the Benjamin Welleses, of Bryn Mawr, Pa. Invitations have been sent out for the wedding, I understand. The ceremony will be a small home wedding.

Martha "prepped" at Westover and later went to Smith. Mr. Wells prepared for college at the Hill School and chose the University of Pittsburgh as his alma mater.

Weddings aren't the only things being planned. Perhaps those of you who have visited much in small towns know that the spring and summer and fall are the seasons of county fairs, for which the whole countryside turns out. Since many Pittsburghers have never attended a real county fair, the Sewickley Child Health Association has decided to hold one as a benefit affair. The county fair of Sewickley, instead of lasting a week, will only be held one day—May 4, in the Edgeworth Club. There will be all kinds of booths and novel entertainments, I understand.

Asheville, N. C., has always had its devotees. Many Pittsburghers spend a good bit of the year there, and others visit the resort frequently. At present Dr. Thomas S. Arbuthnot is in Asheville, where he is the guest of his nephew, Charles Arbuthnot III.

* * *

Mrs. Henry R. Rea is one of the society women who isn't going to take any chances with the weather, so instead of coming up early from the South she is waiting until spring is surely here to stay. She is still at Palm Beach, where she is being much entertained. Mrs. James D. Hailman gave a tea Monday on the Terrace Garden of the Breakers. And her guests included Mrs. Rea, the Countess Denise Dolfin and Mrs. Henry C. Phipps, formerly of Pittsburgh.

While we are speaking about former Pittsburghers, I hear the Josiah Copley Thows will sail for Europe this evening on the Ile de France.

Many Pittsburghers are hastening home to be in the city for Easter; others are planning to be far, far out of town on Sunday.

A goodly number of folks from this city will be abroad for Easter. The George Irwin Holdships, Mrs. Charles Wharton, sister of Mrs. Holdship, and Mrs. Harvey Childs will spend the Easter holidays in Rome, I hear. Other Pittsburghers in Rome are the W. Henry Singers of the Hotel Kenmawr and Miss Julia Harding.

That busy society and club woman, Mrs. Ambrose Nevin Diehl, will be out of the city for Easter, I understand. She and Mr. Diehl will leave for White Sulphur Springs the latter part of this week. Their daughter, Joan Diehl, is already at the Springs, where she is the guest of Mrs. A. B. Spreckels and her daughter, Dorothy Spreckels, of San Francisco. The Spreckels have been staying at the Ritz Carlton in New York.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hanson, of South avenue, Wilkinsburg, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Gertrude Elizabeth Hanson, to John Porter Woodfill, son of Mrs. E. C. Woodfill, of Wilkinsburg. A June wedding is planned.

The Easter dinner dance of the Pittsburgh Field Club will be held tomorrow night at 7 o'clock in the clubhouse.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Frank T. Alter, of Brownsville road, have announced the marriage of their daughter, Miss Ethel Alter, and C. Frank Borshneck, which was solemnized Wednesday. The bride is a graduate of the Margaret Morrison Carnegie College, and Mr. Borshneck was graduated from the Carnegie Institute of Technology. He is a member of the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity.

NEWSPAPERS LAUDED AT OUTLOOK ALLIANCE

"The newspaper is a mirror held up to the face of the day in which we live. It reflects our civilization and the trouble is not with the newspaper, but with society." So said W. McCleane Work in a splendid, richly humorous and enlightening talk at the Outlook Alliance's literary luncheon yesterday in the Congress of Clubs.

Mr. Work, while deploring the sensational treatment of news, held that the printing of crime throws a wall of fire around the home and civilization. He told something of the composition of the modern newspaper, of its official family and spoke of the strain and stress under which news is procured and printed, emphasizing the accuracy which attends despite the terrific pressure.

Another speaker was Robert Corbett, son of Mrs. S. J. Corbett, one of the members, who made an eloquent plea for entrance to the League of Nations as the chief means of developing internationalism and preventing war.

It was the twenty-first anniversary of the Alliance, in celebration of which there were individual birthday cakes with tiny candles, and Mrs. H. D. Stark, the president, gave a short sketch of all the women who had preceded her in office. The decorations were in keeping with the Easter season.

A patriotic program will be given in celebration of Appomatox Day by the welfare department of the Congress of Clubs on Monday. Mrs. Walter F. Cooley, chairman of the department, announces as speakers: Dr. Henry Rolfe Brown, superintendent of the United States Veterans' Hospital at Aspinwall; Maj. L. P. Horsefall, R. O. T. C., University of Pittsburgh; William T. McNaugher and Mrs. Samuel E. Donaldson, of the American Legion and the auxiliary. Miss Marion Cooley will read and Mrs. William L. Stone will sing, accompanied by Mrs. Bertha Gross King, and Mrs. Estella Medley will lead assembly singing. Mrs. C. W. Parker is chairman for the day and the program also will include a memorial service for service men to which Service Star Mothers and members of the American Legion Auxiliary have been especially invited.

The Pittsburgh Wellesley Club will give a tea Saturday afternoon of next week in the Central Y. W. C. A., honoring the girls who are preparing to enter Wellesley. Motion pictures of campus life will be shown. Mrs. John D. Ballard is chairman of the hostess committee.

A change has been made by the Woman's Club of Ingomar for its April meeting, set for next Thursday afternoon, instead of evening as originally planned. Mrs. Harry Trimble and Mrs. J. W. Flesher will be hostesses and the program will consist of a play, "Look What You've Done," to be presented by the members. Mrs. E. H. Demmler, of Perrymont, will be hostess for the May meeting.

* * *

Brentwood Civic Club will hold its monthly meeting April 13 instead of today. Election of officers, a display from the Workship of the Blind and special music are to be events of the day. Mrs. William L. Dudt is social chairman. The club is giving a card party and dance Monday in the Carrick G. B. U. hall in charge of the ways and means committee.

* * *

A bake sale will be conducted by the Ladies' Community Organization of Ingomar Saturday at the North Side market. The monthly meeting will take place at the home of Mrs. William Davis, Franklin road, on Tuesday at 1 o'clock.

* * *

The April meeting of the Montefiore Aid Society will be held at the Hellfield "Y" sunday afternoon. A musical program has been arranged. Miss Jeannette Harris to present songs accompanied by Thomas Cohen, who also will give several solos.

a wonderful WALNUT bargain

This Second Price Reduction Makes Them One of the Cheapest Good Foods You Can Buy

All year Diamond Walnuts have been low priced.

And now—during this city-wide "Bargain Sale"—prices have been still further reduced.

You can't afford to pass up this real bargain opportunity.

Lowest Prices in 12 Years

Naturally there's a reason for these remarkably-low Walnut prices. We, the Growers, are anxious that you have all the facts.

In the first place, Nature gave us a huge crop of top-quality Walnuts this season—simply loaded down our trees. As a result, our production costs were lowered. And we passed our saving along to you by selling at record low prices.

Evidently you appreciated this opportunity to buy better Walnuts—cheaply. In five months you have bought 25% more Walnuts than in any previous twelve-month period.

But there are still some left. We must store them—or sell them! And it costs money to store Walnuts. So, we have made new reductions—out-and-out bargain prices—prices so low that they probably will never again be duplicated—so low that you'll find they are more economical even than shelled Walnuts. And you know they're fresh—too!

And grocers all over the city are co-operating by passing along this price reduction to you. In fact, many leading grocers are featuring still lower prices when you buy 2 or 3 pounds of Walnuts at a time.

These prices will last as long as stocks warrant. But, take our word for it that won't be long. So don't delay! Get your share during this city-wide bargain sale.

Look for Your Grocer's Specials

Your grocer probably is displaying Diamond Walnut "specials" right now. Take advantage of them—buy 2 or 3 pounds at a time. This is your opportunity to serve Walnuts in all those many ways you've always wanted to enjoy them, at remarkably low cost.

Look for the Diamond trade-mark branded right on each Walnut shell. It's your guarantee that even though you pay less than ordinary Walnuts generally cost, you are getting the finest the market affords.

CALIFORNIA WALNUT GROWERS ASSOCIATION
Los Angeles, California
A purely co-operative, non-profit organization of 4,840 growers. Our yearly production over 70,000,000 pounds

DIAMOND California's finest WALNUTS

RIGHT NOW—DURING LENT—THEY'RE PARTICULARLY "IN SEASON"

It's remarkable how often you can use Walnuts in your everyday cooking. They add so much to other foods — a "finishing touch" that's extra tempting—sure to please.

Morning muffins, for instance! How new they become — how much better — when sprinkled generously with Walnut kernels. And have you ever tried Walnut waffles? Just add Walnuts to the receipt you've always used.

Salads? Of course! Nine salads out of ten really need Walnuts—to be complete. And how easily they are added.

Waldorf made sandwiches taste better.

In muffins, too—a real treat!

Then, for Lenten main-course dishes—"meatless" meat-loaves and vegetable croquettes that call for "meat" flavor — there's no other food can compare with Walnuts.

Cakes, cookies, puddings, frozen treats, candies — all these desserts, and a host of others, look better, taste better, and are better if you use Walnuts freely.

Of course, you want the finest Walnuts — Diamond California Walnuts! And you can always be sure of getting them—just by looking for the Diamond trade-mark branded on each Walnut shell.

BUSINESS MEN URGED TO AID FARMERS

Declaring that the prosperity of practically every American industry depends upon the success of the farmer, R. W. Dunlap, assistant secretary of the United States Department of Agriculture, called upon the business men of Pittsburgh yesterday to shape their policies to help the tillers of the soil. His appeal was made at a conference held under the auspices of the agricultural committee of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce. Farmers from all Western Pennsylvania counties attended. T. D. Harmon, chairman of the chamber committee, presided.

A. V. Snell, manager of the chamber, in welcoming the visitors, urged industrialists to pay living wages to their workmen as one means to insure prosperous communities and subsequent prosperity for the mercantile and agricultural interests. Beside Secretary Dunlap, the speakers were C. G. Jordan, secretary of agriculture of Pennsylvania, and M. S. McDowell, director of the agricultural department of the Pennsylvania State College.

Pilgrims Chorus—"I Lombardi" ..... Verdi

The Pittsburgh Apollo Male Chorus gave its final concert in Carnegie Music Hall last night. What promised to be just a choral concert turned out to be one of the most amusing and sensational musical events of the year.

Harvey B. Gaul, whom we all recognize as a very able director, is always on the lookout for novelty as well. The audience was pleased with his song offerings, but when the pianist began to tell his story in words and playing, it seemed some would scoff, many did laugh outright, but in the end all remained to wonder, and not a few to admire.

Assisting the choir, Henry Cowell, futurist composer and pianist (whom Berlin accepted while Leipzig lifted him bodily from the platform and threw him out of the hall) played two groups of his own compositions.

In these works the young musician revealed his ability to write a beautiful melody, if he so chooses; to write clusters of notes, armfuls in fact, which he purposely plays with his entire forearm, procuring most astonishing resonance and sonority as background to exquisite harp-like tunes; to write daring dissonances which screamingly picture some of the folderols of our own lives.

The composer doubtless revealed new possibilities of the piano, some of which might be misinterpreted as tricks for the vaudeville. As a student of acoustics, he showed us effects by sweeping the strings with his hands, while another performer simply trod the sustaining pedal, that were grewsomely real in depicting a Banshee.

With his fists he interpreted his impressions and protests against the American billboard that were almost a sermon in sound. Like Krenek, whose jazz opera is now the rage of Europe, Cowell has learned that art is not always a heavy master, but may often be a side-splitting clown.

Eein Glen Campbell's songs were a welcome contribution. This new member of our music colony sings in the pure Italian style; her coloratura is brilliant and pleasing, her diction exceedingly pure, her stage manner always attractive, and she sings to please, which she always accomplishes. As encore she gave Annie Laurie in the loveliest Scotch dialect.

The chorus must be mentioned especially for their leaning toward folk songs, and they sing them with zest. Russell Kirk directed the first half of the program. Frederic Lotz and Earl Truxell were the accompanists. FRED LISSFELT.

MEDITATIONS of a MARRIED WOMAN

by HELEN ROWLAND

MAN'S WEAKEST MOMENT

A MAN'S wife is usually some other woman's fault. His second wife is often his first wife's fault.

Nine times out of ten, a man marries one woman, when he is trying to forget some other woman.

* * *

That is his weakest moment—when he is feeling SORRY for himself! That is when his sales resistance is feeblest and his running speed is lowest. It is the one moment when he ought to close his eyes and pray for safety, and refuse to LOOK at a woman. Because he can't see straight, and if he happens to get the right girl, it is sheer blind luck.

HELEN ROWLAND

The "other woman" in a man's life, is seldom the siren who drives him to distraction; she is just any sympathetic little thing who chanced to come along, when he was looking for consolation.

* * *

A man usually falls fatally in love with one woman, when some other woman has begun to bore him or to quarrel with him. Or when some other woman has found him out, or hurt his vanity or shattered his illusions about himself.

* * *

If any girl wants to find a susceptible lover or a husband ripe for the taking, let her look for a man whose heart or vanity needs mending; for one who is feeling "abused" or "misunderstood."

* * *

Nothing so softens a man's heart, weakens his head and makes him slop over with emotional response, as feeling sorry for himself. Nothing makes him so tender, mellow and impressionable as self-pity.

* * *

When one woman has been nagging a man or telling him the truth about himself, any other woman who doesn't KNOW the truth about him, looks just like an angel of mercy. She is as welcome as a trained nurse on the morning after the ether has begun to wear off.

* * *

When one woman has been suspicious or cold or "cruel," almost any other woman seems a paragon of sweetness and sympathy, by comparison. When one woman has been treating him to a display of temperament or cynicism, almost any other woman's arms look like a haven, and her smiles like pure radium by contrast.

* * *

When a man is feeling sorry for himself, his vanity is like a sponge and can sop up all the flattery you may feed him.

Almost any woman can marry a man, when he is trying to forget "the woman before." It's a shame to take the wedding ring!

* * *

Lots of women owe their husbands, not so much to their own skill, as to the bad playing of some other woman, who threw the game into their hands.

Why Only Boy Babies? Is Fay King's Query

By FAY KING

IT SEEMS to me not only very foolish, but very wicked, for parents to set their hearts upon a boy or a girl, as the case may be, when they are expecting a little stranger in their home.

They should be thankful and happy with either little soul that comes to them.

Some men set their hearts on having a son. They promise their hopeful wives all sorts of wonderful gifts if the baby is a boy. If the youngster is a girl, they show such disappointment and resentment toward their wives, as if they were to blame. They, in turn, are disappointed and unhappy about not receiving the birth gifts.

Wanting a son to bear his name is a sort of obsession in conceit with some men! Washington Irving's father, William Irving, was so set in this idea that he named three sons in succession, two dying, after himself.

Other men have so wanted a "junior" that they have left one wife and pretty little daughter to marry another wife, and then been disappointed by another girl.

No doubt these second wives, knowing the man's conceit, played upon this point and did not anticipate disappointment in their own cases.

Yet it is well known that in making adoptions girl babies are more popular than boy babies.

Girls, through marriage, have often brought greater prominence to an ambitious family, than sons have achieved.

All that really matters is GOOD CHILDREN.

For the Lovelorn

"Desperate"

DEAR MISS GALE:

I am a reader of the "Lovelorn" and think your advice helps many a girl in trouble. Now, Miss Gale, I want you to help me with my trouble. I never had a date or a boy friend. I am a girl, 17 years old, and I have liked a boy ever since I was 14, but I never show him I care for him. This is his last year in high school, and he is very popular with boys and girls. Although I had to quit school, and get to see him every now and then, he never talks to me. When I did go to school when we happened to meet in the halls we only said "Hello" to each other, but still neither one of us had courage to speak. Some time he acts as if he cares for my friendship, and some time he acts as if he doesn't. Valentine Day I sent him a card. Of course, I wasn't expecting one in return. Do you think I did right. I only signed my name. Do you think it was all right. I have a card he sent me two years ago. One Saturday afternoon he came to our place and told me of a place where I was wanted to work, but instead of listening what he was talking about, I just stared at him like a stupid child. I couldn't believe my eyes that it was he who was standing there. But I acted cold toward him. Miss Gale, how can I win his friendship, which I crave so much? I don't go out at night, and I like to read books, but I'd like to be friends with him. Wishing you all kinds of luck and happiness, I'll be waiting impatiently for your advice. Thanks I so.

DESPERATE.

If you think this boy likes you, then it is your privilege to invite him to call on you, my dear. But boys are not usually too timid to talk with girls they like, so don't be too sure that his bashfulness prevents him from talking with you. Don't send him cards since he sends you none.

Avoided

DEAR MISS GALE:

I enjoy reading your column every day and think that you give very good advice. I go with a steady boy friend, but at times he acts queer. For instance, if he sees me at church, or at a play he either goes first if won't be with him; without waiting to walk home with me or he just seems to avoid me. I know he doesn't mean anything by it because I called his attention to it several times, but at the same time it hurts me dreadfully. The other evening I went to a school play with my sister. He was in the tenth row, while we were in the fifth. He saw me, no doubt, but he never even waited to say hello or to ask me to go home with him. What would you do in the matter, Miss Gale? He might not mean anything by it—but it looks so funny to my friends. I love him, but I doubt his love for the above reasons. Should I give him up? It will be mighty hard, as in other respects he is very loyal.

AVOIDED.

If he doesn't mean to hurt you, my dear, try not to be so offended. Above all, though, don't nag him about it. Try ignoring it for a while and he may change.

Wondering

DEAR MISS GALE:

We have been reading your advice for some time and think it great. We have come now for advice. We have seen a boy whom we both like, but he does not know it. He is the captain of a high school basketball team. We do not know his name. We would like to tell him how we admired his playing. Would it be O. K. to write to the captain, in care of the high school?

WANDERING.

I don't believe I would write to him if I were you, my dears.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

U.S. Senator from New York

Social Customs to Avoid If One Would Keep Health

IT WAS said long ago by Plutarch that we "are more sensible of what is done against custom than against nature."

What did Plutarch mean by this?

DR. COPELAND

I will give you an example: You go to dinner with your charming neighbor. Your hostess has planned a wonderful meal and with her own hands has made several delicious dishes. You have had a hard day at the office, or for some other reason are off your food. You decline a second helping of a favorite dish, or refuse it entirely.

Your hostess protests: "Oh, you must have more of this cake! I made it myself."

Custom has made you a slave to this sort of appeal. You take the second piece of cake, or another helping of baked squash, or a third slice of home-made bread.

You are wheedled into doing what you know is bad for your digestion and harmful to your body. You conform to custom, no matter what happens to your physical nature.

We are creatures of habit. We are lashed to the wheel of convention. We stay up nights, doing a million things we hate. Why? Because it is "the thing" to do, each of them a useless performance.

When are you going to begin taking care of yourself? When are you to become sensible of what is done against nature?

I realize that society makes certain proper demands upon each of us. But when you become the slave of society and cannot bear to read a list of guests at Mrs. So and So's party unless it contains your name, then you are tied to the mast. You will go down with the ship of convention.

What is the use of all this if it breaks your health? It is indeed foolish to be more sensible of what is done against custom than against nature.

There are plenty of disagreeable persons who never do anything unless they feel like it. You need not be as bad as that, but you can keep in the back of your head that temperance is good for everybody. You don't need to overdo the business of being driven by the lash of custom.

Assert your independence now and then. At least half the time give thought to what is good for your health. Be sensible of nature's demands, part of the time certainly.

The great moralist stated a great truth when he said we are more sensible of what is done against custom than against nature. Let us show the shade of Plutarch that we have resolved to reform.

Answers to Health Queries

H. W. Q.—What causes itching in the ears?

A.—This condition may be due to nasal catarrh or hardened wax in the ears. It would be advisable for you to consult an ear specialist.

BILL AIMED AT PATRONAGE

WASHINGTON, April 6.—(INS.)—A bill, aimed at preventing the use of Federal patronage to secure presidential nominations, was introduced in the Senate yesterday by Senator Shipstead (Farmer-Labor) of Minnesota.

The bill would make it illegal for any person, holding an appointive office in the Federal government, to serve as committeeman, delegate or alternate at any political convention, primary or party caucus, "having as its aim the nomination or election of any candidate for president or vice president." Violators would be subjected to a $1,000 fine, loss of his position and debarment from all public office for five years.

MONTOUR ORGANIZES COMMERCE CHAMBER

Judge James H. Gray of Common Pleas Court has granted a charter to the Montour Chamber of Commerce on application of Attorney George P. Murray. The body is being organized to protect the interests of the farmers and the business men of the territory as they relate to public improvements.

THROWN OUT OF HOME, NORTH SIDE WIFE SAYS

Her life was "an absolute tragedy," Mrs. Mary M. Cochran, 520 East Ohio street, told udge John A. Evans, in asking divorce from Edward B. Cochran. Her husband, she testified, blacked her eye and threw her out of her apartment one night in 1923. She went to a neighbors for the night and next morning found her husband had left. The couple were married in 1906, in Altoona. She charges Cochran, through her counsel, Harry Easton, with cruel and barbarous treatment.

CHILLY SAUCE By CHILLY DOYLE

DALLAS, Tex., April 6.—Minerva has four Grimes boys in diamond action this spring. Ray Grimes, former Cub, is the first-sacker for the San Antonio club of the Texas League. Roy, twin brother of the San Antonio gatetender, plays the same position for Casey Stengel's Toledo champions, while Kenneth, a younger brother of the twins, is trying for an infield position with Casey's club, but the youngster injured himself in training camp. Burleigh of the Pirates makes his home in the Ohio village but he is no relation to the other boys of the same name.

PETE SCOTT has been definitely assigned to the outfield division by Skipper Bush. From now on Peterkin will fiddle around with a finger mitt, he having tossed away his big glove. Scott is confident he can play the outfield effectively and cites his experiences in center while a member of the Kansas City Blues—

IN the event of any slump of the club due to left-hand pitching, Bush may find it advisable to get Pete in the lineup. Such a plan might also include Joe Harris at first base. With his remarkable reserve strength, Doyle is in a position to present an attack showing eight right-hand batters. The only exception would be Punch 'Em Paul, who in the viewpoint of his mates, "doesn't know how" the pitcher throws.

BUSH also has decided on Ralston Hemsley as third-string catcher. It's a far cry from the class D Blue Ridge League to the big show, and despite the impressive actions of Rolly, he is still a matter of doubt, but he is now the owner of a grey suit and is a regular in good standing. The youngster shapes up like a star receiver and he has a big edge in his favor, that is speed of foot. All he has to do is to bat fairly and he should be a topliner.

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., April 6—(AP)—A "hole-in-one" was made by Mrs. Frank C. Schiver on the Morgantown Country Club golf course yesterday.

Local Star Cracks Par

RICHMOND, Va., April 6.—(AP.)—"Wild Bill" Melhorn, of Pittsburgh, with a total of 283 for the 72 holes, won the Richmond open golf tournament here yesterday, leading Joe Kirkwood, of Albany, Ga., by four strokes.

Melhorn shot 146-137 under par for the final 36 holes of play.

The winner's prize was $1,000 and Kirkwood's $500, the rest of the field divided $1,800.

Emmett French, of Southern Pines, N. C., and Al Espinosa, Chicago star, finished with 289 each in third place. Johnny Farrell, of Quaker Ridge, N. Y., finished seventh and Bobby Cruickshank of Purchase, N. Y., eleventh out of the money. Cruickshank played through the day suffering from rheumatism and had a dismal 81 for one of his rounds.

Playing before a gallery of nearly 1,000 persons, Melhorn shot 69 yesterday afternoon. Going out he took a 37 but came in with a 32, four under par. On the first two holes he took fives two over for a birdie three on the third, one over on the fourth, a birdie on the sixth and one over on the eighth.

After the turn he settled down and was over par on only one hole. Three birdies and an eagle 3 on the fourteenth gave him his 32.

Melhorn came in one under par for the 72 holes, making the 36 holes in 146 as compared with 143 for the first two days' play. He shot the final 18 holes in a 69 equaling the course record he established on the second 18 holes.

SLATTERY TO CONFER WITH BRAVE OWNERS

BOSTON, April 6.—(AP)—Manager Jack Slattery of the Boston Braves has been summoned to Boston from Nashville, Tenn., for a conference here tomorrow with President Emil Fuchs and Vice President Charles F. Adams of the club. No intimation was given as to the subject matter of the conference.

During Slattery's absence Rogers Hornsby will act as manager of the Braves.

COACHES FROWN ON CHANGES

CHICAGO, April 6.—Any changes in the present basketball rules will not receive the approval of the National Association of Basketball Coaches. This was the consensus of opinion of more than 100 coaches, who have expressed themselves at the annual meeting of the association.

Advocates of the one-bounce rule were much in the minority. Walter Meanwell, of the University of Wisconsin, who favored the abolition of the dribble when it was first suggested a year ago, was indifferent as to probable changes.

Ward Lambert, of Purdue, chairman of the association's rules committee, expressed himself as being against any changes without first giving them a thorough trial.

JAFFE TO REPRESENT ROCKNE TOUR IN N. Y.

NEW YORK, April 6.—(INS.)—Irving Jaffe, unofficial Olympic skating champion at 10,000 metres, has been appointed New York representative for the Olympic and European tour sponsored by Knute Rockne. It has been announced from the headquarters of the famous Notre Dame coach. The Rockne tour will start on the Carmania I, the Cunard liner on July 28 and will make a flying visit to many of the European countries after taking in the Olympic games at Amsterdam. Miss Aileen Riggin, former woman's Olympic diving champion, will act as hostess for the Rockne party.

Zivic, Katkish, Once Pals, to Box Here

LITTLE did Jack Zivic and Jack Katkish, former buddies, ever think they would clash in the ring.

But they're matched now. They'll meet in the windup at Motor Square Garden one week from next Monday night in what will be the last show of the season here.

Both were born and raised in Lawrenceville. Both are Croatian-Americans. Katkish and his younger brother, Joey, were lured into the game by the success of the Zivic brothers, Pete and Jack. When the Katkishes turned professional, the Zivics induced their manager, Jimmy Bronson of New York, to add them to his stable and he did and the pair went well in the East. Jack Katkish helped Jack Zivic train and Joey Katkish worked with Pete Zivic. All was lovely. Then first Jack and recently Joey Katkish broke away from Bronson and returned home. Diplomatic relations were badly strained.

Katkish began to make some strides on his own account in bouts at Motor Square Garden, and somebody said something about his fighting Zivic, his former buddy. Katkish said o. k., negotiations were begun and Manager Bronson, on behalf of Zivic, avidly embraced the offer.

Was his motive revenge? Will Zivic be fighting to uphold the dignity and prestige of the Bronson stable? Or have Zivic and Katkish a personal grudge to work out? All Lawrenceville will be ready to hail the winner as the champion of that district, although Zivic has made his home in New York for two years.

The bout is a "natural" if ever there was one, and should prove a fitting climax to the local indoor season.

McKeesport has a "natural" of its own booked for next Thursday night, when Phil Scelio will clash with Allen Beatty. They are Tube City rivals and both are favorites with the fans.

Louis Colombo and Mickey Milton, both of Clarksburg, W. Va., top a card in that town tonight. They will clash for 10 rounds.

Teddy Welch, McKeesport lightweight, boxes Steve O'Malley of Bellaire, O., in the main bout at Washington, Pa., Monday night a week. Andy Tonosky of Wilmerding, Teddy's stablemate, meets Petey Roberts in a 10-round bout at Wheeling the same night.

COACH TO APPOINT WAYNESBURG CAPTAINS

WAYNESBURG, Pa., April 6.—Waynesburg High School athletic teams will no longer have elected captains, according to a rule of the faculty which will go into effect next year.

Captains will be appointed before every game, the man who has shown the best spirit and qualities of leadership to be appointed by the coach.

The plan is in line with one being adopted by many colleges and prep schools throughout the country, but Waynesburg is believed to be the first high school in this section to adopt the plan.

Fight Results

At Philadelphia—Young Ketchel defeated Frankie Sacco, 8 rounds.

At Kansas City—Huey Garfinkle defeated Royal Coffman, 10 rounds.

At Fort Thomas, Ky.—Midget Guery defeated Paul Anthony, 10 rounds; Young Bruno defeated Johnny Bass, 4 rounds; Eddie Ammon defeated Young Ketchel, 4 rounds.

At Passaic—Mike Sankovitch defeated Gordon Munce on foul, 2 rounds.

RIFLE CLUB FORMED HERE

A JUNIOR rifle club, to embrace both boy and girl members, has been organized here under instructor Howard Gales. Two rifle ranges have been secured and plans are under way to accommodate 50 members.

LEW TENDLER GIVEN MORE TIME FOR BOUT

PHILADELPHIA, April 6.(INS.)—Lew Tendler, Philadelphia's veteran southpaw battler, will not fight Joe Dundee, world's welterweight champion in the 10-round windup at the Arena here next Monday. Tendler asked Frank A. Wiener, chairman of the State Athletic Commission for two weeks more time, to get in shape for the bout.

His request was granted and the famous lefthander's farewell appearance will be postponed a forthnight. A substitute for Monday windup has not yet been secured.

Easter Style Authority

When you talk about Style Authority, London means as much to the well dressed man as Paris does to the well dressed woman.

Bartley and Sons, London Bootmakers for more than a hundred years, have actually made shoes for the present Prince of Wales, his father, the present King of England and his grandfather, King Edward, and other members of the Royal Family, past and present.

I went direct to Bartley because I thought he should know as well as any man in England the style that the best dressed men in London will wear for Easter, and Bartley made this shoe for me.

I paid three pounds four shillings and twopence ($15.65) for this shoe in London and we have reproduced it in our factory for $6.60. Bartley's original shoe will be put on display in 72 Regal windows, and the Regal Reproduction is now on sale in 72 Regal Stores from Coast to Coast.

Bartley describes this shoe as a Box Calf Oxonian with "Punched and Notched" Toe Cap and a "Middling Substance" Oak Bark Tanned Sole. This simply means it's a Black Calf Oxford with a Tan Bark Medium Weight sole, which is just what we are using in the Regal Reproduction. The lasts are identical in measurement and appearance and the design is the same.

But let me tell you a difference you can't see when you compare the two shoes. Bartley is using practically the same methods today as he did when he was making shoes for Queen Victoria—only four men handle the shoe from the time it is cut until it is finished. In our factory about one hundred and fifty different persons perform some operation on a Regal Shoe. BARTLEY AVERAGES THREE PAIRS A DAY—WE MAKE ABOUT THREE THOUSAND A DAY.

This is only one of a series of 40 Regal Reproductions of the most popular styles for street, dress or sport, produced by the most exclusive English and American Bootmakers.

EASTER SCHOOL VACATION GIVES YOUNGSTERS OPPORTUNITY TO TAKE ADVANTAGE OF SPRING WEATHER.

What is so rare as a day in March or April—when it isn't snowing? The answer, of course, is a night in June, but that has nothing to do with the above pictures, which present a group of future Ty Cobbs, Tris Speakers and Honus Wagners. The cameraman picked them up at Washington Park, where the youngsters of the Hill district do their pastiming. Youths of all nationalities are represented, as is to be expected of the great American sport. For instance, Pitcher Marpes is a Serbian, Catcher Easton an American, Batter Tannoes an Italian, Victor Johns, Welsh, and Simon, the batter who stands at the plate a la Max Carey, Mexican. All hope to grow up to be sterling examples of solid American citizens, and clean, wholesome outdoor sports will do much to keep them on the right track.

SIANOS VICTORS IN HOT RACE

The Siano Club won the championship of the Pittsburgh and Ohio Valley (P. & O.) League for the season when it defeated the J. J. Mieles, Hill district Italian rivals, in the third and deciding game of a playoff series on the Columbus Temple floor Wednesday night, 22 to 14. In the group of champions above are, left to right: Back row—Tony Palamone, Tom Foley, George Delvecchio and Manager Mike Foglia. Front row—Charles Sheehan, Frank Bracarelli, William Cotz, Carlo Catio and Yans Wallace.

Leaders In P.-O. League

BEATEN OUT AFTER HARD TRY

The Mieles, champions of the P. & O. League last year and winners of the first half honors this season, won the first game of the playoff series in the P. & O. League, but lost the second and third. The P. & O. League was the outstanding basketball circuit in the Pittsburgh district with the collapse of the Allegheny County League before the close of the season.

Delaney, Sharkey Go Set

NEW YORK, April 6.—(AP.)—Jack Delaney, former light heavyweight champion, has signed through his manager to fight Jack Sharkey, of Boston, in a 15-round heavyweight match at Madison Square Garden, April 30. Sharkey signed articles last Friday.

The bout is just a "fight," Jess McMahon, matchmaker at the Garden, said, and has no connection with the elimination tournament that brought defeats for both Delaney and Sharkey and a heavyweight title shot for Tom Heeney.

SPORT COMMENT by JAMES J. LONG

Charley Walsh

PRESIDENT BARNEY DREYFUSS of the Pittsburgh baseball club, did not intimate in his talk with the Sun-Tele yesterday what players probably would be let go in the remainder of Manager Owen Bush's weeding-out operations.

In fact, he said that in one or two cases he believed that Bush had not made up his mind.

However, the average fan who has been studying the situation in the Pirate camp for himself, feels pretty sure that he can guess the names of the majority of Buccaneers yet to be dropped.

TO begin with, the admission that Hemsley is to be retained in the catching department because of the prospect that he will develop into a star, means that there will be no room for Linton. The latter never had a chance anyhow, because he is a left-handed hitter, and both Smith and Gooch hit from the port side.

In the second place, Peery's poor showing in the last couple of weeks killed any chance he might have had. Besides, Bartholomew has made good, and as Fussell is a fixture there is no opening for Peery because the club will carry only two left-handers.

AS it is admitted that Brame will be kept, it also may be taken for granted that Walsh and Mahaffey at least will be dropped from the pitching staff for lack of room, if nothing else. There still is a fighting chance for Tauscher or Spencer to stick while the veterans are ailing, though both eventually may be placed with good minor league clubs for further development.

Tom Thevenow

As the Bucs already have two extra infielders in Bartell and Mulligan, without counting Harris, young Jones will have to be sent away to pick up some experience.

Bush has plenty of time and need not be hasty in the matter, as only six more releases are required to reduce the Rovers to the summer limit of 25, and that limit will not be enforced until June 15.

WHETHER the player really has recovered, which is doubted in baseball circles that are generally well-posted, or Manager Bill McKechnie is merely taking the step to keep his players from losing confidence at the start of the pennant race, can only be conjectured, but from Cardinal headquarters comes the official bulletin that Thevenow is going to start the season at shortstop.

A week ago it looked as if it would be out of the question for Thevenow

SPEAKING of SPORTS

by HARRY KECK
SUN-TELEGRAPH SPORTS EDITOR

IF BASEBALL were the boxing racket, the fans would be declaring that the Pirates and Yankees, who have been knocked off with such regularity in the training season games, are pulling their punches and setting the stage for a grand cleanup by making the fans think they're the worst teams in the major leagues instead of the best. They certainly have acted the part to date, but matters will be different when the bell rings. Class tells in the long run and the training camp games do not mean a thing.

At that, Manager Donie Bush hardly may be blamed for feeling peeved over the showing of his noble h-a-l-etes to date and giving them that lusty calldown. The Bucs have acted too much as if last fall's world series still were on to suit their best friends, who are, naturally, their severest critics.

James (Red) Mason once had a fighter who looked like a million dollars in one fight and like a selling plater in the next. Like the little girl with the curl he either was very, very good or very, very horrid. There was no middle ground for him. Commenting on him one day, Mason said:

"Say, it's a good thing that guy's not a race horse. If a horse were such an in-and-outer the jockey clubs would rule him off the turf for life."

TEX RICKARD is out on the limb with his heavyweight championship match this year. He has a lot of worrying to do in view of the large purse he has guaranteed Gene Tunney to meet the best available challenger, who happens to be Tom Heeney. Only the finest bit of ballyhooing imaginable will enable him to get out from under with his shirt still on his back.

In this connection, a reader wants to know if I don't think Johnny Risko got a bum deal in being counted out of the running after being promised a final elimination with Heeney if he defeated Jack Sharkey, which he did.

Perhaps Risko was a little roughly treated, but, then, what else was Rickard to do? Heeney defeated Risko a few months ago in Detroit and it wasn't such a hot fight. If he should pair them again they'd just as likely as not eliminate each

JONES MAY GET KATY'S JOB

By JESS CARVER

Buck Jones, who played some good football at Centre College during the reign of Charley Moran and Bo McMillin, is in line for the football coaching job at Waynesburg College, which Dr. Roy K. (Katy) Easterday has no more use for.

Katy, former Pitt three-letter star, who entered the local institution as a high jumper and left a basketball and football ace, has decided to resign at Waynesburg.

Jones has been assisting with the coaching at Waynesburg ever since he came up from the South, when they brought the famous Red Roberts to the Yellow Jacket institution as coach. He has been assisting Katy and Henny Deutsch with football and track ever since. He arrived in 1924.

Easterday has been uniformly successful since taking over the reigns at Waynesburg. He left Bethany to take the job and since taking hold has kept his football and basketball teams fairly high in the district ratings.

If the Waynesburg officials decide to secure a coach for all-year-round work, which will in-

CHAMPIONS GET 10-1 WIN OVER BEARS

By CHARLES J. DOYLE,
Sun-Telegraph Staff Correspondent.

DALLAS, Tex., April 6.—The Pirates arrived here this Good Friday morning after riding through the night from San Antonio, where yesterday, they encompassed a second defeat of Frank Gibson's San Antonio club. This afternoon the Bushwhackers are slated to meet the Detroit Tigers in a stopover contest.

Immediately after the finish of the game the Pirate squad will hurry to a train bound for Memphis, which city they are scheduled to reach tomorrow morning.

Burleigh Grimes, the spitball star of the Pirate staff, and Fred Fussell, the new left-hander, will twirl against George Moriarty's boys. In the remaining games Bush will continue to give his first string pitchers plenty of opportunity to work. Grimes is carded to take the bigger half of the contest with the Tigers.

The Buccos were in their best stride of the year in their last clash with the San Antonio Bears. Blending with the heavy offensive of the club was the de luxe pitching of Remy Kremer and Lee Meadows, despite the fact that Meadows suffered with a lame pitching arm as he toiled the three final innings. Frenchy worked six rounds before giving way to relief. The cannonading of the Pittsburgh bats made the success an easy one, the score being 10 to 1.

Kremer's stunt of staying on the mound for six rounds set a new mark for the regular pitchers in the matter of endurance. This accomplishment, however, is not remarkable by any means. Skipper Bush was anxious to have his stars work seven rounds before this late date. Danie, nevertheless, is thankful for the ideal weather encountered so far on the barnstorming jaunt. The day at Phoenix and the two days in San Antonio provided a fine tonic for all hands.

The Waner boys were much in the limelight with three hits each. Lloyd smacked the first offering of the game for a single that was the signal for the fruitful afternoon.

Local Star Not to Quit

AMARILLO, Tex., April 6.—(AP.)—Snow and rain hampered the racers in the coast-to-coast foot derby yesterday but failed to impede Pat De Marr, of Los Angeles, who showed at his best in the rough going, to lead the van into Amarillo, over a 37-mile stretch from Vega, Tex.

Dr. Marr's time was 5:29:42. He is well down the list on the basis of elapsed time, having covered the 1,189 miles from Los Angeles in 297:24:44.

John Salo, Passaic, N. J., finished second in 6:05:07. His elapsed time is 223:27:37. In third place was Andrew Payne, Claremore, Okla., who ranks second for the total distance with elapsed time of 201:15:28.

Phillip Granville, Hamilton, Ontario, was fourth in 6:20:13, while Arne Souminen, Detroit, holder of first place in the race, was fifth with 6:22:23. Souminen's leadership time is 196:07:43, Granville's total is 225:23:23.

Others among the first 16 finishers in the field of 90 survivors were Louis Perella, Albany, N. Y.; Peter Gavuzzi, Southampton, England; Olli Wanttinen, New York; Mike Joyce, Cleveland; Eugene Germain, Montreal, and Fred Kamler, Miami, Fla.

The hard going in today's lap over a snow-swept highway had its effect on others. Five men, including Mike Kelly, Goshen, Ind., and Bill Busch, Pittsburgh, temporarily dropped out. They were picked up by patrol cars but announced their determination to make up the mileage.

Earl Dilks, of New Castle, Pa., finished yesterday's lap in 9:24:42, giving him an elapsed time for the distance from Los Angeles of 278:30:34.

other, and then where would Rickard be?

Tex is entitled to that much of a break, anyway.

SPEAKING of Tunney, he's up to his old tricks again.

A few days after he defeated Jack Dempsey and won the title at Philadelphia, he took a shot at the newspaper boys who hadn't given him much of a look-in before that now historic meeting. He said he didn't pay any attention to what he read in the papers, because he "considered the source."

It took him quite a while to square that crack, and now he comes back with another one along similar lines.

In his belated message to the New York Commission, notifying it of his acceptance of Heeney's challenge, he excuses his delay by declaring he had received no official notification from the commission to the effect that it would vote him ineligible unless he accepted one of the challenges filed against him, but had read about it in the newspapers, and, "of course, I did not accept this report as accurate."

Apparently he still is "considering the source," and the newspaper boys may remember that when they fail to get excited over the bologny that will be disseminated for publication as the time for the big apology for a real fight draws near.

WEEK OF APRIL 22-28 TO BE 'OLYMPIC WEEK'

NEW YORK, April 6.—The week of April 22-28 will be proclaimed "Olympic Week" by President Coolidge and a special drive will be made throughout the United States to raise funds to send the American Olympic team to Amsterdam, Daniel J. Ferris, secretary of the Amateur Athletic Union, has announced.

to go to this post next Wednesday, and it seemed doubtful that he would be of much use to his team during the year, putting the important shortstopping job up to Maranville and Schuble. That looked like a hard blow to the Cardinals' pennant chances and its discouraging effects were discernible in the actions of the other Redbirds.

It is reported that Thevenow still walks with a limp, so it may be merely for psychological reasons, to bolster the spirits of the remainder of the team, and not with any hope that he will last through the season that McKechnie is planning to have him at his post when the bell rings.

THEY may argue that the baseball fates have ruled that Harry Heilmann of the Tigers shall lead the American League in batting only in odd-numbered years—he topped the list in 1921, 1923, 1925 and 1927—but the rate at which he has started out this spring indicates he may make a strong bid to change the run of things.

Harry Heilmann.

Moreover, Heilmann is hitting home runs at a clip that makes him look like a possible rival of Babe Ruth. If he were to hit then, during the season at the same rate as he hit them in practice games he would have more than 100 to his credit at the finish.

A similarity has been noted between the styles of Ruth and Heilmann, even though the Babe hits left-handed and Harry is a right-hand slugger. Both follow through and end their swings high. Both grip their bats at the very end to obtain the greatest possible leverage, besides using their powerful shoulders and a "leg drive" to get every ounce of their weight behind their blows.

IT TOOK them a long time to get old Joe Sugden out of the big leagues, but he has finally left the big show. He probably will be made manager of the Laurel team of the Cotton States League.

Strange thing about Joe. When Manager Al Buckenberger of the Pittsburgh club, way back in July of 1893, bought Pitcher Tom Colcolough from the Charleston club of the Southern League, the Charleston owners "threw in" Sugden for good measure, saying, "Here is a catcher for whom we have no use. If you want him, take him along as a present."

One year later Colcolough dropped out of the big show, being sent first to New Castle and then to Wilkes-Barre, but Sugden has remained in the majors the greater part of the time until now as player and coach.

When W. H. Watkins succeeded Pat Donovan as Pittsburgh's manager in 1898 he started a reorganization by trading Fink Hawley and Elmer Smith to Cincinnati for Billy Rhines, Billy Gray, Bill Schriver and Jack McCarthy, gave Jim Hughey and $1,500 to St. Louis for Bill Hart, and then swapped Sugden even up to the Mound City club for Morgan Murphy.

Old Joe has been hanging around the majors most of the time since then. In recent years he was coach for the Cardinals and Phillies.

Chicago—Connolly, Van Graflan and McGowan.

Detroit—Hildebrand, Ormsby and Guthrie.

Philadelphia — Dinneen, Nallin and Barry.

Boston — Owens, Geisel and Campbell.

TYRON, "BOY PLUNGER" OF RACE TRACKS, DIES

SAN DIEGO, Cal., April 6.—(AP.)—Lonnie Tyron, trainer for the horse racing establishment of Marvin Allen and well-known figure in the racing world, died last night in a hospital at Yuma, Ariz., friends here were advised. Tyron was taken ill with appendicitis on his way East following the closing of the Tia Juana track for the season.

Tyron gained the name of "boy plunger" years ago by his daring operations in the betting ring. Several of his large coups were made at New York tracks where he had raced horses he had trained for many owners and at times had horses of his own.

His brother, sister and brother were with him when he died. Tyron was born in Sacramento, Cal., 44 years ago. His body will be taken there for burial.

DEMPSEY THROUGH, JACK KEARNS SAYS

NEW YORK, April 6.—(INS.)—Jack Dempsey never will fight again in the opinion of his former manager, Jack Kearns, who has arrived in New York to press his suit for $700,000 afainst the old heavyweight champion.

"Dempsey is shot," Kearns declared, "I don't think he ever can get in shape to fight a good man. I don't know about his eyes, but he knows he's through. He's nearly 33 years old and doesn't need the money.

"Jack is worth close to $2,000,000 in real estate, bonds, other investments and ready assets. I hope to make a dent in his bankroll when our case comes to trial."

U. S. NET STARS START FIGHT TO REGAIN DAVIS CUP

You Don't Have to Be a Hobo to Be a Track Man

Tilden, Team Face Mexico

MEXICO CITY, April 6.—(AP.)—The United States and Mexico will inaugurate the 1928 American zone Davis Cup play here today with the playing of two singles matches, one between Captain William T. Tilden II, of the United States' team, and Robert Kinsey, of the Mexican team, and the other between Johnny Hennessey, of the U. S., and Ricardo Tapia, of Mexico.

"Big Bill" is in superb condition for his singles match against Kinsey.

An exhibition doubles match will be played this morning with Wilmer Allison and Coen opposing Manuel Llano and Mariano Lozano, who are not members of the Mexican Davis Cup team, but among the best of the Mexican players.

Davis Cup play starts at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon with the singles match between Hennessey and Tapia. At 4 o'clock the second singles match will bring Tilden against Kinsey.

Tomorrow morning an exhibition singles match will be played between Coen and Tapia. In the afternoon the Davis Cup doubles find Tilden and Arnold Jones facing Kinsey and Alfonso Unda.

ishing below third, while the awards for the teams finishing in the first three positions have been cut. The new plan was adopted at the request of many entrants and it is expected to prove a popular move.

There will be money awards for the first 14 teams, beginning with a $150 prize for the five-men leaders and graduating down to five dollars for the 14th team. In the doubles, $100 will be given the winners and in the singles, the top money will be $75.

In yesterday's competition, new marks were set in both the doubles and five-men events. In the doubles, Homish and Doc Emery spilled the maples for 1,024, and Hirsch and Boyle clicked in with 991 for second. Third place is held by Eckhart and Mearkle, first place winners in Wednesday's rolling.

The five-men leaders today are the Fort Pitt pinmen, who turned in a high score of 2,247 yesterday.

The leading scores follows:

FIVE-MEN EVENT.

Fort Pitt, 2,247; P. A. A. No. 1, 2,179; Second Ward Club, Homestead, 2,153; Oil Well Supply, 2,117; P. A. A. No. 2, 2,115; P. A. A. No. 3, 1,765; Chas. A. Bruce Co., 1,884.

MEN'S DOUBLES.

Homish and Emery, 1,024; Hirsch and Boyle, 991; Eckhard and Mearkle, 959; Hanlon and Emery, 928; Marrone and Johnson, 848; Andrews and Wightman, 841; Caldwell and Leonard, 840; McGeagh and McGraw, 824; Powers and Kramick, 812.

CHICAGO, April 6.—(AP.)—Two veterans and one newcomer among the coterie of billiard satellites led the chase for the national three-cushion billiard championship today.

They were John Layton of St. Louis and Willie Hoppe of New York, the veterans, and Allen Hall of St. Louis. Of the three Layton was ahead with three victories and no defeats. Hoppe and Hall have won the only two matches they have played in the tournament.

Otto Reiselt of Philadelphia, the defending champion, is tied for fourth place with Augie Kiefer, Chicago, and Gus Copulos of Detroit.

Hoppe had a close call from defeat last night when he met Charles Weston of Pittsburgh. Weston led all the way until he needed one more point to win. Then his ivories kissed and Hoppe ran out with a run of two. The score was 50 to 49 and the match was the longest of the tournament's four days, going 78 innings.

Differences with the principal of the high school, Hegschel Williamson, are said to be the reason for Wolfe's contemplated resignation.

HOCKEY

Bun Cook showed only flashes of their true form and found it difficult to break away from their checks. On the few occasions that they managed to flash the style which carried the New York team to the American Group championship, their scoring efforts were smothered at the Maroon net by Benedict.

In substitute strength the Maroons iced a combination which proved far superior to the reserve strength thrown on the rink by the visitors. Both Maroon goals were scored when the second-string local forward line was in action. On the other hand, the Ranger substitute strength, while it held on well defensively, failed to show anything on the offensive, seldom getting beyond the Montreal blue line.

Chabot, Rangers' goalie, was the star of the invading Gothamites. The two counters that went past him were well earned. He had almost twice as much work to do as his rival, Benedict.

Humor Kept Depew Young; Crowley May Succeed Him.

By B. C. FORBES

SOMEHOW, Chauncey Depew always reminded me of a Yosemite Forest giant, thousands of years old. His death means the passing of a human land mark. No man could take you so far back into the financial and political and business past, and regale you with intimate experiences with national giants long since merged into American history.

Why did he outlive all those of his circle and his generation?

"I OWE my mental and physical health and my long life to my sense of humor," he told me on the eve of his ninetieth birthday. "If you want to live long laugh much," he emphasized.

Then, his eyes brightening into a sparkle, he launched into this story:

"I had a little incident last birthday. An army of reporters and photographers came to see me at a certain hour, and while the reporters popped questions, the flashlights went popping. After they had gone, a young cub reporter breezed into my office, his hat on his head at a jaunty angle and his whole attitude, oh, so very superior.

"'I have been sent—I don't know why—to write something about your birthday. What is there about April 23 more than any other day that they're making a fuss about your birthday?' he wanted to know. 'I replied that I was eighty-nine and that there weren't so very many of us left at that age.

"'What about it?' the young gentleman demanded, his hat still on his head.

"'Don't you know,' I asked him, 'that on April 23 Shakespeare was born, St. George was born and I was born?'

"'All in the same year?' asked the cub?"

"ARE you going to make a speech at the National Convention this year?" I then asked the veteran Senator.

"I don't know," he replied, 'but I've had the habit of doing it for more than a generation. At the last convention in Chicago I spoke for an hour and they told me that I was heard better than any of the other speakers. In fact, one breezy Westerner squeezed his way up to me afterward, told me he had been sitting about two miles from the platform, and that I was the only speaker he heard. 'How old are you?' he asked.

"'Eighty-six,' I told him.

"He fixed his eyes on me for a moment, then he exploded: 'You are either a d—— liar or you're a miracle.'"

THE Senator went on to tell me he had his grave built all ready for him, with name and everything cut out, but that he had no intention of occupying it for a long, long time—that was in April, 1924.

Immediately following that interview, I wrote this:

"A New York Central Railroad director died in the subway on his way home from a meeting of the board. At the next month's meeting, following a long-established custom, Chauncey Depew, chairman of the board, presented a memorial resolution to be inscribed in the minutes and, tastefully engrossed, presented to the deceased director's family. President A. H. Smith read the resolution. It was couched in beautiful language, revealing in every phrase the master touch of Mr. Depew. 'I move,' said President Smith, 'that we all offer up a prayer that Senator Depew be spared to outlive all of us so that we can have our memorial drawn up as only he can do it.'

"'I looked around the directors' table,' Mr. Depew related to me, and remarked to myself that, of all the men there present, Mr. Smith was the most robust and that there was little likelihood of any one at that table being left to draw up any resolution when his time came. I was in my ninetieth year; Mr. Smith wasn't sixty-three. At the very next meeting of the directors it was my sad duty to draw up a memorial resolution on the death of Mr. Smith."

IN ADDITION to his irrepressible sense of humor the Senator gave several other things some of the credit for his good health and long life. For years he had given up tobacco and also alcohol. But he attached more importance to his sensible eating. He was fond of saying, "Don't eat what you like but eat what likes you."

But always the Senator would come back to the cardinal importance of looking on the bright and humorous side of things. He declared that both his grandfather and his father died of worry and that this was warning enough to him. He blamed humor, however, for having prevented him from being President of the United States.

"Garfield himself told me," he declared, "that I might have been President if I didn't tell so many funny stories. 'The public,' Garfield said, 'wouldn't trust or take seriously a man who indulged in jokes.' When I cited the case of Lincoln, Garfield replied that it wasn't until after his election that the people discovered his sense of humor, and he added, "'if they had known about it they would not have nominated him.'"

THE likelihood is that Patrick E. Crowley, now president of the New York Central, will succeed to the chairmanship of the board, held by Mr. Depew, and the road's ablest vice president will be made president.

UNITED STATES STEEL CORPORATION
NOTICE OF ANNUAL MEETING OF APRIL 16, 1928

Notice is hereby given that the Annual Meeting of the Stockholders of the United States Steel Corporation will be held at the principal office of the Corporation, Hudson Trust Company Building, No. 51 Newark Street, in the City of Hoboken, County of Hudson and State of New Jersey, on Monday, the 16th day of April, 1928, at 12 o'clock noon, for the following purposes, namely:

1. To consider and vote upon the approval and ratification of the various purchases, contracts, contributions, compensations, acts, proceedings, elections and appointments by the Board of Directors or by the Finance Committee since the Annual Meeting of the Stockholders of the Corporation on April 18, 1927, and all matters referred to in the Annual Report to Stockholders for the fiscal year ending December 31, 1927. The minutes of the Board of Directors and of the Finance Committee will be open to inspection by stockholders of record during business hours at the New York office of the Corporation, No. 71 Broadway, until after the close of the meeting.
2. To elect Directors pursuant to the by-laws.
3. To elect a committee of three stockholders to administer the Corporation Profit Sharing Plan adopted at the Annual Meeting, April 18, 1921.
4. To elect independent auditors to audit the books and accounts of the Corporation at the close of the current fiscal year.
5. To transact such other business as may properly come before the meeting.

The stock transfer books will be closed at 12:01 A. M. on Saturday, the 17th day of March, 1928, and will remain closed until the adjournment of said meeting of stockholders.

By order of the Board of Directors,
GEO. E. LEET, Secretary.
Dated, March 16, 1928.

"PLUS-SIX" Suits
"PLUS-SIX" Topcoats

21.50

Choosing the new Spring suit or getting a topcoat to please you, is an easy, pleasant matter at the ANNEX. Variety is seasonable, always—and assortments are so wide, so large that you can consider every style angle before you finally decide on a choice.

Extra Trousers Plus 86

You can practically double the wear of the suit you select by getting a pair of trousers to match it. And the "Plus-Six" feature is a decided economy, when such additional service may be had at so low a price.

A Fine Topcoat Showing

Particularly fine are the newest ones—gracefully tailored from a luxurious new fabric in camel's hair and grey shades. You're in for a real surprise if the topcoat you choose to-day or to-morrow is your first "Plus-Six!"

NEW CAR SMASHED IN MORNING RUSH

IN BIGELOW BOULEVARD

Leo C. Leary, 6611 Darlington road, fixes clocks. He stopped to adjust the mechanism on the large clock on Bigelow boulevard near the Seventeenth street incline and along came a new sedan (above) and plowed into the rear of his car. Max Dichter, 526 Federal street, was driving the sedan. He said he did not see Leary's machine. Motorcycle Patrolman C. J. Sherline is looking over the damage. The accident occurred during the daily morning rush into the Golden Triangle and the day's work.

GARAGE YIELDS BIG STILL

A 400-gallon still, 93 barrels of mash and 55 gallons of moonshine were confiscated last night, prohibition agents say, when they raided a garage in the Prospect road at Glassmere. Tony Bussio, found in the building, was arrested. Agents estimated the value of the seizure at $3,000.

A raid on the home of Ralph Bernardo of 53 North Fourth street, Clairton, revealed two quarts of moonshine. Bernardo was arrested and the moonshine was held as evidence.

PRIVATE SALE OF REAL ESTATE FOR PAYMENT OF DEBTS

In the Orphans' Court of Allegheny County, Pennsylvania. No. 331 March Term 1928. Notice is hereby given that the Potter Title and Trust Company, administrator of the estate of Mike Sroski, deceased, has presented its petition to the Orphans' Court of Allegheny County of the above number and term praying for an order authorizing and directing it to sell at private sale to Mary Yurcsin, for the payment of debts and the expense of administration for the sum of Four Hundred ($400.00) Dollars, certain lots in each, the following described real estate:

All that certain lot or piece of ground situate in the Township of South Versailles, County of Allegheny and State of Pennsylvania, being lot No. 89 in a plan of lots at Trevorton, laid out by Louise I. Gilbert, trustee, said plan being recorded in the Recorder's Office of Allegheny County in Plan Book Vol. 13, page 104, reference to said plan being had for a more particular description, and bounded and described as follows, to-wit: Said lot fronting thereon sixty (60) feet, being of the following measurements, to-wit: one foot on the northerly line thereof, one hundred forty-one (141) feet on the northerly line thereof, sixty (60) feet on the southerly line thereof, and one hundred thirty-four (134) feet on the western line thereof, being the same lot or piece of ground which National Bellevue Company, by his deed dated August 8, 1926, and recorded in the Recorder's Office of Allegheny County in Deed Book Vol. 2760, page 52, granted and conveyed to Mike Sroski.

Having erected thereon a one-story frame dwelling consisting of three rooms and basement, located on Campbell street in the village of Trevorton, Township of South Fayette, county of Allegheny and State of Pennsylvania.

And the court has fixed

Monday the 16th Day of April, 1928,

At 10:00 O'Clock A. M., in open court, at the City-County Building, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, as the time and place for a hearing on said petition, when and where all persons interested may appear, object and be heard and after a satisfactory income for said real estate in accordance with the Act of Assembly in such cases made and provided.

BUGS BAER Says

UNCALLED for criticisms of Sandinista Spring maneuvers in Nicaragua indicate that our twittering pacifists still think that complaints are music.

We admit that the limits of an isthmus do not make up for atrocities on a large scale. But we are doing our best with a rickety little war in the hope that it may grow up.

The capture of the largest epaulette factory in Managua shows that Sandino has been cut off from his base of supplies.

We scattered his army on horseback and captured the horse.

The war lost its romance and picturesque background when Sandino chased our boys off their parade grounds.

But the marines retook the drill esplanade the next day and the photographs are better than ever.

We don't know why the marines are at Managua any more than we know why the sailors were at Pelham Bay.

But the integrity of the Army and Navy filing system is at stake and you can rest serene that this war will continue until the departmental heads think up a reason for it.

Cabaret in Home Zone Is Question for Court

Opposition to granting a cabaret permit to a place in Squirrel Hill brings out a question of property rights which should be decided by the courts. Residents of the community protested that the place was not run properly, which, of course, is a matter for summary action by the Department of Public Safety, but, at a hearing before councilmen, the manager and other witnesses contended the conduct was not objectionable.

Frequently, during the hearing, there was intimation that such a place should not be permitted in a class A residence zone. Persons living in residential districts have a right to assume they shall be immune from extraordinary annoyances, such as a cabaret might easily be.

On the other hand, is the right of another property holder to the benefit of all his legal privileges. If the orderly operation of a cabaret in a residential district is among his rights, it should clearly be set forth. Inasmuch as the outcome likely will be a precedent in similar situations, it is a matter in which the court should rule.

Mill, Safer Than Home For Two Years, Is Lesson

At 4 o'clock on the afternoon of April 3, 1926, a fatality occurred in the South Side plant of the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation. When a two-year period had elapsed no other fatality had occurred in the works, which, meanwhile, had employed an average of 5,100 hands.

During that two-year period this mill was the safest place for its employes. Several of its workers lost their lives in accidents on the streets and highways, and accidental death came to some of them even in their homes.

This is truly a remarkable record—one to ponder especially at the present time, which is a period of "Safety—Save-A-Life" activity.

A mill throbbing with industrial activity, with elements that menace life on all sides, is made more safe than even the home because of intelligent control and direction of the human factor, which frequently nullifies the operation of all mechanical safety devices. Not all the safety appliances in the world can save the life of a person who is careless habitually.

So, in the last analysis, it was the Jones & Laughlin employes, themselves, who preserved their own lives. The company deserves their thanks for getting them into the habit of being careful for their own good. What a great thing it would be if the general public could be taught the same lesson.

Remember the purposes of the "Safety—Save-A-Life" campaign.

Not Less, More Education Is the Need of This Land

A mild stir has been caused in educational circles by the recommendation of the Manufacturers' Association that children who are not doing satisfactory work in school be released from further school attendance.

But if it is the sick who most need a doctor, it is the backward pupil who most needs effective teaching.

To release from school the child who isn't progressing would deprive the child of what the schools are maintained to give. It would also be a confession of failure by the school, which it should be loth to make.

Except in the few cases of innate abnormality, there is no backward pupil who cannot by some means be reached and quickened. It is the job of the schools to find that means.

Another suggestion which school authorities are asked to consider comes from a few college presidents, who think that none but "potential leaders" should go to college. They wish to make better strainers of the public high schools.

But who has a gauge of the "potential leaders"? Leadership rarely reveals itself in high school age. Often at college the lad who passes unnoticed becomes in maturity a foremost citizen.

Both these proposals have in view a reduction in the range and scope of education. Both aim to serve special interests at the expense of the general welfare.

Our country, instead, needs more and better education.

The National Government should help generously states and communities which lack resources of their own to maintain fine school standards.

To that end it should create a Department of Education, with a secretary in the Cabinet.

No Lack of Needs

The National Industrial Conference Board denies that use in industry of labor-saving machinery is at the cost, except in instances temporarily, of labor by hand.

Study of the manufacturers' census convinces it that, while in 1925 as much production came from 71 workers and 82 managerial and supervisory persons as from 100 in each group in 1914, giving a 40 per cent increase in per capita product, the total production in the later year was 65 per cent larger than in the earlier.

That is, not only were as many workers employed in 1925 as in 1914, with a third higher real wages, though with a 9 per cent reduction in working time, but actually 1,500,000 more workers were employed.

Humanity needs enough things to keep all its competent workers busy, provided folly does not rock the boat.

GOING UP!

Garrett P. Serviss Says:

Knighted from Heaven.

A UNIQUE event is described in a communication from the directors of the Kyoto University Observatory, Japan, to "Popular Astronomy." On April 23, 1927, a little girl of three-and-a-half years, Chiu Kuriyama, of the village of Aba, near Sukatu, startled her mother by suddenly shrieking without any apparent reason. The mother examined the child and found that she had been wounded in the neck. There were two marks, one a mere scratch, the other a small but severe burn which took several days to heal.

The mother was nonplussed by this strange accident. No cause for it appeared, but upon more careful examination she found a little stone coming out of a fold of the child's clothes. This stone, the size of a small flattish pebble, weighing about one-fifth of a gram, "felt more or less hot."

* * *

It was taken to a high school principal. He seems immediately to have suspected its nature, as he kept it for some time "as a sample of education." Finally the schoolmaster sent the stone to the University Observatory, where upon careful examination by Mr. Yamamoto, the director, and his colleagues it was recognized as possessing the physical characteristics of a meteorite.

About half of its exterior was found to be covered with a black crust. The rest showed "a fresh rough surface caused probably by a breaking while moving in the sky."

They put it in their record under the name of the "Aba Meteorite." Under that title it is likely to become famous, for there is but one other authenticated instance of a person being struck by a meteorite, unless we accept, with Professor William H. Pickering, the story in Joshua, chap. X, verse 11, as referring to a fall of meteorites.

At Mhow, India, in 1827, a man was killed by a meteorite. Human habitations have occasionally been struck by these missiles from space. The latest instance that I recollect occurred on December 3, 1917, when a meteorite broke through the roof of a house at Guth Lodge, Keithick, England, but nobody was hurt.

Inasmuch as millions of these bodies enter the earth's atmosphere every twenty-four hours, it may seem wonderful that they do not cause more fatalities. But the wonder ceases when we reflect that nearly all of them are smaller probably than ordinary pebbles or even grains of sand, so that, owing to their immense velocity—many miles per second on striking the atmosphere—they are almost instantly consumed and dissipated in dust and gases, through the intense heat developed by friction with the air particles.

Moreover, even the massive ones are often broken into small fragments by repeated explosions during their flight through the air, as seems to have been the case with the meteorite whose heated chip hit the little girl Chiu.

* * *

In more superstitious ages one who had been hit by a meteorite but escaped without serious injury would probably have been looked upon as a favorite of the gods, the celestial blow being like the accolade that conferred knighthood in the days of chivalry. Anyhow, little Chiu's name will not fail to be recorded in the annals of astronomy.

Pan-American Highway

A GENERATION ago James G. Blaine argued eloquently for a railroad to connect the three Americas. The motor car has changed this need. We are soon to see construction begun of a Pan-American highway.

The recent Pan-American conference indroeed it. Our Congress has made a friendly gesture. The million motor vehicles south of Mexico are daily missionaries for it.

Surveys show that a highway of 10,000 miles to penetrate Central America and loop both coasts of South America is feasible. Parts of it are already built or building.

When completed, as may be within ten years, it will open to commerce 200,000 farms and plantations now accessible only by cow trails, tap immensely valuable natural resources, make immeasurably for human happiness and—incidentally, though not unimportant—open markets for 10,000,000 American-made automobiles.

Don't Rest on Laurels

PERHAPS you are congratulating yourself on a certain success.

But what is your idea of success? Because you have reached the point which a person of real ambition would consider merely a stepping stone, not a worthwhile objective?

It is comfortable to be easy with yourself.

But you will not reach the height of your capability till you have put your full power back of your action.

That you are satisfied with small attainment is your affair.

It may mean the acme of enjoyment as you see it.

But having gained your little knoll on the mountainside of fame, don't try to impress others with the fact that you have been a success.

You may be laughed at by those whose ideas of success are so far ahead of your conception of the pinnacle you ought to reach that you may make yourself ridiculous.

Success is comparative.

Considering your ability and your environment, have you made the most of your life?

Life's a Flower

LIFE'S a flower. Wear it so,
Like a rose that you would take
From your plot where roses grow
Peering in the mimic lake.

Wear it proudly and be glad
Of the priceless gift you hold;
When were roses ever sad?
Joy, then, as the years unfold!

Life's a flower, blooming now
Bright and colorful and sweet;
Prize it justly. Make no vow
Time, in passing, can defeat.

Flowers bud to fade some day,
Life must wither like rare bloom;
But before it droops away,
Share in all its fleet perfume.

Welcome Film Of Family Life

—By ELSIE ROBINSON—

A Letter to Club Women

I AM a club woman. I am whole-heartedly devoted to the principle of club life for women and to most of the work undertaken by our clubs. But I feel that we are weakening our cause and belittling ourselves by certain of our attitudes. As a newspaper woman I have the opportunity to check the correctness of this opinion. So today, as one comrade to another, I'm putting it up to you.

A recent example will illustrate my point.

Within the last few weeks, a certain film has been released throughout the country. This film represents an honest attempt to depict the life of the average American family. It holds certain scenes, familiar to every home. Rustic scenes, sometimes a little vulgar and foolish—but nevertheless the sturdy stuff upon which our family life is based.

SCENES FLAVORED WITH THAT SACRED, WHOLESOME COARSENESS WHICH FIRST GAVE STRENGTH AND FIBER TO THE AMERICAN SOIL, COMMON AS MUSH, ROUGH AS GOOD BROWN BREAD—

A new born baby in the doctor's hand, the spanking welcome and the first, small squeal—

The bathroom of a simple home where patient, loving hands wipe grubby little ears, and tend small wiggling bodies—

The first embarrassed ecstacy of a newly married couple in a Pullman car, that ecstacy from which will come a nation's future and a peoples' pride—

The whisking of a little boy around a corner, by an exasperated, weary dad—

The whole absurd and glorious framework of our common life—an honest effort to render tribute to the simple souls who never yet have had their due upon the silver screen—so splendidly different from the sick unreality which sometimes emanates from Hollywood.

* * *

Every intelligent, progressive club woman in America should have arisen and called that picture blessed. And, to their credit be it said, many of them did. But a vast number did—quite otherwise. Before the curtain had fallen, scores of them were on the wires or calling meetings to protest against the "indecency" of such an exhibition.

New born babies and bathrooms—HORRIBLE!

Importunate little boys and ecstatic newlyweds—OUTRAGEOUS!

Horrible and outrageous, indeed—but not the picture. Horrible and outrageous, rather, that the women who are supposed to be upholding the dignity of family life in America should take such a vulgar, intolerant attitude toward the honest service and the simple dreams upon which that life is based.

This of all causes is OUR cause, my friends—the integrity of family life and the beauty and nobility of every service, however homely, which ministers to that life. And we should range ourselves on the side of every attempt to free Sex and Love, Motherhood and Fatherhood from the smirks and snickers and leers which have hitherto attended their frank portrayal. We should say, by every means within our power—

"We, as mothers of the race, believe in our jobs. We believe in the sacredness and sweetness of everything that ministers to our jobs, however trivial or commonplace it may be. We believe that family life is the greatest epic in human history and that every aspect of it should be thoroughly understood and command reverence. And, with one voice we condemn the ignorance, false modesty and unclean prudishness which would degrade this subject by making it taboo."

There is the intelligent, clean and progressive attitude. No other attitude is worthy of the club women of America.

The people who stand in their own light labor under the delusion that all the world is equally in the dark.

New York Day by Day

NEW YORK, April 6.—Thoughts while strolling: Who remembers when it was smart to carry a menthol inhaler? Frisco, th jazz dancer, with a white lapel flower. What has become o flagpole sitters? Morris Gest's flaring overcoat. William Thaw III.

The detectives who hang around out-of-town newspaper stands. William Seeman, Mayor Walker's closest friend. Also Rube Goldberg's brother-in-law. Bruce Barton resembles Gene Tunney. The beautiful but bored. A flivver lettered on the side with "The Spirit of Canarsie."

Park Avenue Vere de Veres who look on a trip to Broadway as slumming. The old medicine street faker who wears a snakeskin necktie. More glorified sandwich parlors—with opulent, bediamonded proprietors. The East Side cymbolum players are moving to uptown cafes.

A department store offers free chlorine gas treatment for colds. A chicken escapes from a crate and a street is enthralled. A blase burg. A new pharmaceutical triumph—a heart shaped ham sandwich. The sudden desolation below 42d street.

It was once surcharged with the vitality only the Rialto can bestow. But activity picks up again at Herald Square. The Sixth avenue quick lunches. With window menus hektographed. Six prunes to the dish. And free toothpicks. Chipped blue sugar bowls and newspapers held in clasps with handles.

Cheap furriers. Basement upholstering, carpentering and glazing shops. The studio in the Beaux Arts where Isadora Duncan once held forth. Men who sneak into Automats while those who can afford expensive places stroll in. Shooting gallery rat-a-tat-tat and penny peeps at "Fun in a Lady's Bath House."

A window sign painter orders a crowd of curious away. Still you know how artists are! An old-time queensware store with the usual dinginess. Soiled shaggy white dogs sent out to promenade alone. Shadowy halls and little girls in pigtails with rag dolls.

The agency soliciting celebrities to indorse various cigarets, health foods and such are reported to have closed their campaign. They are receiving no more names. They have more now than they can use in five years. This exploitation was an astounding illustration of how people of prominence would cheapen themselves for a few lines of valueless publicity. A few were paid—which is all right . they feel that way about it—but most of them were eager and anxious to indorse anything so long as they got the publicity. It was a gesture advertising organizations should have nipped in the bud.

Bruce Reynolds, one of the bright, particular spirits of the Lambs, had his fun this season producing a play written by himself even if it did set him back some $30,000. He traveled his troupers about in a private car, fed them the best the best hotels afforded and gave them what to their Thespic minds seemed a Roman holiday. The play sparkled with snappy dialogue but did not linger. The plot, if any, was a little too weak.

When Reynolds saw it was destined for the warehouse, he sent each member of his company the following telegram: "Immediately after the performance tonight you are cordially invited to the corner of Chambers street and Broadway to see your illustrious author dive off the Woolworth building into a teacup full of water."

Reynolds took the thrust like a true chevalier and offered no alibis. "It was fun and like all good fun costly," he says. He is one of the characters who enliven the high spots of Broadway. Recently he made what he called an alcoholic tour of Europe which furnished material for his book "Cocktail Continentale." He has gone to Europe to remain a year.

A multi-millionaire has his auto monogrammed with the initials of his chauffeur. That is just one of his innumerable gestures to not appear conspicuous. I lean, however, to the good old Tom Mix method. On his palatial home at Catalina Tom has his name in electric lights on the roof.

Russia and United States

By DR. FRANK CRANE

Russia is engaged in an interesting experiment. It is trying out the theory of Karl Marx and other Socialists.

We have often heard reformers say that what was the matter with the world is the capitalistic system. All we need to do is to put business entirely in the hands of the people and to eliminate the capitalists and the millennium will be here.

Russia regards the United States as one of her principal enemies, for this country is built up on the theory of capitalism.

What may be the outcome of these two theories it is hard to say. Anything may happen.

At present the results are startling.

Mr. Churchill, the chancellor of the exchequer of Great Britain, in an address recently delivered before London bankers compared the two countries in a remarkable sentence. He said: "What a contrast is presented by comparing the condition of these two countries (Russia and the United States). Here are two vast countries, each numbering more than one hundred million, each in possession of a mighty continent containing every form of natural wealth and inexhaustible resources; the one sinking back into the hideous self-torture of the Communistic delusion and the other striding forward year after year into a prosperity for all classes of people without parallel or precedent."

Academically and quite properly the Russian system may have some very good arguments, but practically and as a matter of fact things in the United States seem to favor capitalism.

For the prosperity of this country is not confined to a few rich men or concerns. It spreads everywhere. Workmen enjoy better working conditions and live more comfortable lives than the nobles of yesterday. The money in savings' banks has piled up enormously. Great concerns are owned by the small investors, and these inventors, like Henry Ford, that have done something to improve the condition of the common people are more prosperous than the vendors of luxuries which are exclusively for the rich.

Whatever may be the outcome argumentatively, the United States is, as a matter of fact, the best country to live in. The government of Russia is iron tyranny. Conditions in the United States are those of liberty. Daily we see in the public press diatribes against our own government and against our own institutions. As a rule, unless these writings incite violence directly they are hardly interfered with.

In other words, this country is one in which a man can slosh around and say pretty much what he thinks and in the meanwhile make a good living, while in Russia he had better be careful of what he says, and the size of his wage envelope is distinctly meager.

Unselfish Woman

A LONG time ago there came a man from the Hamlet land, Leofric, the Dane, and ruled as Lord of Coventry in Fair Albion over the sea. We are told by Tennyson that he was as rough as the hand of Esau and as rude as the gnarled hickory on the downs.

He made good the title of tyrant by imposing on the poor and humble peasantry a tax so heavy and impossible that they appealed to his good and generous wife, the Queen Godiva, and said, "If we pay, we starve."

Therefore Godiva, with all the dear wiles of pure and noble womanhood, pleaded with the king to lift the tax and free the overburdened people. But Leofric, with heart like a borean blast, laughed at the queen and her pleadings and then half in jest challenged her, "Do thou mount thy palfrey and ride naked through the streets of Coventry and the tax shall be lifted."

Godiva accepted the challenge and sent a crier through the streets asking all the people to stay within doors with shades drawn till high noon, and she would ride.

Mounting her palfrey, clad in nothing but her long golden tresses, Godiva the Queen, rode to and fro through the city. Only one man, Peeping Tom, attempted to look at her and he was immediately struck blind.

Leofric canceled the cruel tax and to this day there is a frequent pageant in honor of Godiva in the streets of Coventry.

That legend is a highlight on the vicarious unselfishness of womanhood through all the centuries. Millions of them have gone, if not nude, at least in rags through the censor-lined streets of the world in order that wealth or fame or honor might come to those they loved.

Think of the ragged, starving wife of Verdi who loved and endured like Godiva while her husband was producing immortal operas.

You will remember the story of the olden city which was besieged, and finally the conqueror sent in the word that the women would be allowed to leave and carry with them all they could. Whereupon each woman staggered out of the besieged city carrying her husband on her back.

The race is safe so long as there are women in it.
